

Commission Tries To Obtain Accord For Peace in Laos

Flies to Plaine des Jarres In Effort to Win Agreement

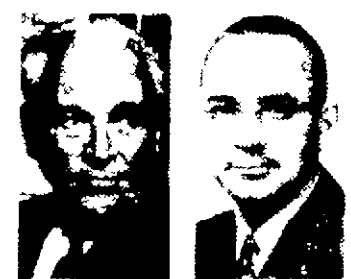

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The three nation International Control Commission flew to the Plaine des Jarres today in an effort to bring peace between neutralist and pro-Communist forces which have been fighting there for the past 10 days.

The commission's trip was part of a diplomatic campaign to restore peace in the area which the United States regards as a prime testing ground of the oft-proclaimed Soviet policy of peaceful coexistence.

Ford Company Has New Head

Arjay R. Miller Chosen to Succeed John Dykstra

DETROIT (AP)—Arjay R. Miller, a scholarly appearing Nebraska man with a strong background in finance, was named president of Ford Motor Co. today.

Miller succeeds John Dykstra, who is retiring because of age.

Dykstra will be 65 next week.

Charles H. Patterson, who has been vice president of Ford's basic manufacturing group, was named to the long vacant post of executive vice president.

during its postwar reorganization.

He is the second from the group to reach the top spot. The first was Robert S. McNamara, who served two months in 1960 before moving to Washington to become secretary of defense.

Although conforming strictly to the standard auto industry practice of retirement at 65, confirmation of Dykstra's impending departure was regarded as a mild surprise.

He became president two years ago this month. At that time Ford spokesman indicated to questioners he might not quit automatically when he reached his 65th birthday.

Announced by Ford Board Chairman Henry Ford II, told a questioner Tuesday Dykstra will retire this month.

Miller, 47, was reported to be Ford's third highest paid officer in

Diefenbaker Plans Talks on His Next Move

Prime Minister to See Leaders of Minority Parties

TORONTO (AP)—Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker flies to Ottawa today for talks that should determine whether he will try to remain in office despite the Liberal party victory in Monday's election.

The 67-year-old Conservative leader called a meeting Thursday of his lame duck Cabinet to consider the question.

He is expected to confer with leaders of the Social Credit and New Democratic parties to see whether they would support him if he decides to stay on. He would need the backing of both.

Delayed Tabulation

He probably will not announce his decision until the armed forces vote is tabulated. That may be another week.

Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson is ready to form a government if and when Diefenbaker steps down.

The Liberals won the largest number of seats in the House of Commons but fell five short of a majority. They captured 124 of the 264 seats and the Conservatives took 96. The remainder were divided among the smaller parties—24 to Social Credit and 17 to the New Democrats.

The Liberals could pick up two or three additional seats when the service votes are all in, but there is only the remotest possibility they could get the 133 needed to give them a majority.

Under a precedent established by the late W. L. Mackenzie King, Diefenbaker could continue as prime minister without having the largest party in Commons but it would be necessary for him to have support from other parties. It is customary for the leader of the largest party to form the government.

NATO Confers on Nuclear Strategy

De Murville's Presence May Hint Shift in French Stand

PARIS (AP) — Members of the Atlantic Alliance (NATO) have agreed to establish a co-ordinated nuclear command, including French units, informed sources said today.

PARIS (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk and four of his European colleagues joined delegates of the North Atlantic Council today for a defense discussion concerned mostly with NATO nuclear strategy.

The presence of French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville gave a hint of greater French interest in the idea of a multinational nuclear force. There was no sign, however, that President Charles de Gaulle was reversing his basic opposition to the plan.

Foreign Secretary Lord Home of Britain, Foreign Minister Gerhard Schröder of West Germany and Foreign Minister Aldo Moro of Italy also participated in the session, a regular weekly meeting of permanent ambassadors of the 12 nation alliance.

NATO Combat Force

The chief item was the proposed international nuclear combat force under NATO command which has been denounced by the Russians as a plan that would expand the rocket nuclear arms race and spread the danger of war.

Rusk was to give the council a progress report on the nuclear force plan. Also high on the agenda was a 1,000-word Soviet diplomatic note denouncing one phase of the plan particularly—a $6 billion fleet of fast merchant ships armed with Polaris nuclear missiles.

Russian Protest

If NATO warships were to begin poking around the seas disguised by flags of commerce, the Soviet note said, this would be practically equivalent to an declared state of war.

The Soviet note charged the whole plan was designed to arm West Germany with nuclear weapons and would trigger a new spirit in the nuclear arms race. It implied that nonnuclear nations which joined in the plan could expect to be hit by Soviet rockets in case of an East-West war.

Missing Bus Found; All Aboard Safe

YOUNG, Ariz. (AP)—The great fuss over the wayward bus is over.

A two-state search for a busload of 10 high school students and five adults from Young ended in a Harbor City, Calif. motel Tuesday night.

All hands were reported safe. The bus driver, W. H. Merchant, principal of the high school, said the bus wasn't missing at all.

The bus left this tiny central Arizona community Saturday for an Easter vacation trip to Disneyland, Marineland and the San Diego Zoo.

Search Launched

Arizona authorities began a two-state search after members of the group failed to telephone their families Saturday night. The parents understood they were to get nightly phone calls, authorities said.

Merchant told police there was no such agreement. Besides, he explained, there were only a couple of telephones in Young and it was often impossible to reach the town.

Adding to the confusion, police said, was the group's decision not to check in at the Long Beach, Calif. hotel where they had reservations. Merchant said they decided to stay at a motel in nearby Harbor City because the Long Beach hotel was perilously close to an amusement area and vulnerable to looting.

Police said they found the missing Arizonaans after getting a phone tip from someone who had heard about the missing bus and spotted it in Harbor City.

Encyclical Urges Cut in Military Stockpiles and Ban on Nuclear Weapons

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII appealed today for an end to the arms race and for the United Nations to be given the structure and means to safeguard world peace.

In an encyclical titled "Pacem in Terris" (Peace on Earth) the pontiff called for reduction of arms stockpiles, a ban on nuclear weapons and a general agreement eventually on "progressive disarmament and an effective method of control."

The Pope warned that the "conflagration" of war "may be set off by some uncontrollable and unexpected chance."

He added:

"Even though the monstrous power of modern weapons acts as a deterrent, it is to be feared that the mere continuance of nuclear tests undertaken with war in mind will have fatal consequences for life on earth."

The Pope called for the deterrent of arms equality to be replaced by universal acceptance of the fundamental principle "that the true and solid peace of nations consists not in equality of arms but in mutual trust alone."

Writing as the "vicar of Jesus Christ and as interpreter of the entire human family," the pontiff beseeched "especially those who have the responsibility of public affairs to spare no labor in order to ensure that world events follow a reasonable and humane course."

No Details on Means

Pope John indicated he hoped the United Nations eventually might become a strong world authority. But he did not specifically mention what peacekeeping means it should have at its disposal, such as a police force.

He said:

"A public authority, having worldwide power and endowed with the proper means for the effective pursuit of its objective, which is the universal common good in concrete form, must help to set up by common accord and not imposed by force."

But the pontiff said nations were "not in not easily yielding in obedience to an authority imposed by force or to an authority in whose creation they had no part or to which they themselves did not decide to submit by conscious and free choice."

Fail to Solve Problem

Pope John said a supra-national authority must be considered because national leaders in the modern world live on a footing of equality and are no longer capable of fulfilling the task of

Woman Objects to Marina in Lutz Park

Sends Board Letter Suggesting That Yacht Club Build Facility Outside Appleton

Plans of the Appleton Yacht Club to expand its operation on the Fox River are the target of a letter written the park board by Mrs. David Porter of 1310 S. Lehmann Lane.

The club leases land from the City of Appleton for $1 a year. Recently, club officials asked that the city provide additional land for building a marina and relocating the clubhouse.

Aldermen said Yacht club officials should meet with the park board and discuss the matter.

I'm concerned with the Appleton Yacht Club's request to build a marina on land that has been purchased for park property and also at the club's request to build a large clubhouse on the land between Pierce Avenue and Cedar Street which is Lutz Park. Mrs. Porter wrote.

Yacht club members are no doubt sincere in their belief that Appleton needs a marina. Mrs. Porter continued noting that there has been a heavy increase in the number of boat owners. However, she contended the boats being purchased are the outboard type.

These boats are pulled on trailers and their owners use the loading ramp and the parking lot in the park when they want a brief run on the river. Mrs. Porter said. I cannot believe that a large marina would be of benefit to the majority of Appleton boat owners.

Mrs. Porter pointed out that the clubhouse of the Yacht club is open to the public.

Meeting Today

Most taverns are open to the public but not many of them are able to rent land from the city for a dollar a year. Mrs. Porter asserted she questioned why a tavern was allowed to exist on the city-owned property.

Mrs. Porter suggested that the Yacht club could buy or rent land outside of Appleton which would serve the same people that benefit now.

Noting that Lutz Park is Appleton's only park which is open to the public, Mrs. Porter said it was used by people of all ages.

I urge you to consider this matter carefully before turning over any portion of this lovely property to a private club. Mrs. Porter concluded.

Village Checks Sewer Policies

Kimberly Works Board Authorizes Review of System

KIMBERLY — The board of public works has authorized the maintenance committee to review policies governing sewer laterals and report with recommendations to the village board.

Action was taken after some board members indicated the village was receiving requests for payment for clearing sewer laterals beyond the sidewalk. Other communities require property owners to bear responsibility for laterals from the house to the main line and it was felt the village should adopt a similar policy.

Discussion was held on the advisability of having property owners run basement sump pump discharge lines to the curb rather than to back of homes providing a better flow of water into storm sewers and helping to alleviate the problem of flooding back yards.

Street Names

Permission was granted Joseph Van Daalwyk developer of River View Heights Estate to change names of three streets in the new plat. Street names approved were Sunset Point Avenue, Curtin Avenue and Fulcher Avenue. Formerly, street names coincided with names given streets in Appleton which were to connect with village streets but this plan has been abandoned.

Average U. S. Citizen Sick 16 Days a Year

Writer Learns of This Fact by Opening His Mail

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail.

If you are sick fewer than 16 days a year, you're healthier than the average American.

Do you snore habitually? Some 22 million Americans do, although 21 million of them probably don't.

Tip to housewives: When you wish to reheat meat cooked rare, cover it with leaves of lettuce to avoid getting it too well done.

Modern health measures are making motherhood much safer. In 1925 the death toll during pregnancy and childbirth was 65 of every 10,000 mothers. Now it's less than five per 10,000.

Christopher Columbus was no speed demon. He averaged 2.9 miles an hour on his first trip to America.

Other quotable notables: It is indeed desirable to be well descended, but the glory belongs to our ancestors. —Plutarch

Christian Science Book to Appear in Paperback Edition

The first paperback edition of "Science and Health" by Mary Baker Eddy will be published on May 8. This is the book that for nearly 70 years has been read along with the Bible at all Christian Science church services in place of sermons by ministers. The book first appeared in 1875.

The book will be sold at quality bookstores throughout the are informed one out of every thousand persons in Casper, Wyo., is a millionaire—or was.

Those good old days? Ohio spent $2 a year on each of its public school pupils—back in 1863. Prosperity note: Businessmen who expect to hire a college engineering graduate from the Class of 1963 can probably get him for a $600-a-month offer—if the fringe benefits also tempt him.

Fast talk: The French are reported to be among the fastest speakers in the world, averaging a reported 350 syllables a minute. American men speak about 105. American women 175.

Keep your child on his feet: The famous heart doctor, Paul Dudley White, in advocating the benefits of exercise, warns that hardening of the arteries begins in boys as early as the age of 12.

Maybe this will help you feel bigger: Approximately 99 per cent of all living things are smaller and weaker than man.

The perils of authorship: Honoré de Balzac, the French novelist, died exhausted at 51. It was estimated he consumed 50,000 cups of coffee while turning out 350 books.

Organ Perfect Minus Dead Birds, Insects

VENEDY III (AP)—Parishioners of the San Salvaan Lutheran church were undecided whether to buy a new organ or repair the old one which had been in the church balcony for 98 years.

They hired Richard Hosier, an organ builder, to tell them what to do.

Hosier dismantled the instrument. He found the skeletons of four birds, rafts of dead insects and a first-rate organ, hand-crafted 125 years ago in Germany and containing 891 wooden pipes.

Hosier estimated the organ was worth at least $20,000. The parishioners have decided to keep it.

That's exactly what Jayne's P-W Tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Philippine Visitor Meets Pen-Pal

Pen-pals—by proxy—met Friday after 13 years of correspondence. Mrs. Douglas Bahr, 1814 S. Onelda St., and Miss Junnitta Singh, Manila, Philippine Islands, exchanged questions and chatted excitedly about families they had been acquainted with for years but never met.

Mrs. Bahr, the former Miss Lori Dietrich, Oshkosh, began corresponding with Miss Singh's sister, Perla, when she was a sophomore at Oshkosh High School.

"The letters were really from one family to another," Mrs. Bahr explained. "We wrote about our families, what they did and really became well acquainted with all of them."

The exchange of letters continued when Mrs. Bahr entered nurses training in Chicago, Ill., and Miss Singh entered the University of Santo Tomas, Manila, for pre-medical studies.

The hope of both young women to meet was almost realized when Miss Singh considered continuing her graduate study at the University of Miami, Miami, Fla. Instead, she went on to receive her doctorate degree at the University of Manila and establish a practice as general practitioner in Manila.

It was Junnitta Singh who made the dream come true. After completing her training as a pharmacist in her country, she came to the United States in October 1961 to study medical technology. She is a staff member at St. Anthony De Padua Hospital, Chicago, and will remain in this country until her visa expires in October.

In addition to sharing weekend activities as a houseguest of the Bahrs, Miss Singh was also entertained at a tea Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Glenn Sonleitner, 11 Ramlin Court.

Treatment, Not Gifts, Give Youngsters Sense of Security

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS My husband died a few years ago and I was left with two little boys. I married a fine man and we now have a son whom we call J. R. The problem is my husband's mother. She showers J. R. with attention and gifts and completely ignores the other children. I can understand her feelings since J. R. is her only grandchild, but she goes out of her way to remind my two older boys that he is special. They just stand around and stare when grandma helps J. R. unwrap the lovely gifts she has brought for him. My husband refuses to talk to his mother about this. I desperately need some advice. Can you help? — Houston

DEAR ANN LANDERS I am 13 years old. I don't smoke, swear, rat my hair, wear white lipstick or eyeshadow, sass my teachers or stay out late. All I want is a little privacy in my own home. The family bathroom is on the other side of my room, so every body walks right through at all hours of the day or night. Nobody ever knocks. My brothers and my father always manage to break in when I am dressing or undressing and it is very embarrassing. If I could have just a little book on the door to use only when I need privacy I would be grateful. My father says this is foolish. He claims I am still a baby and am making a big fuss over nothing. Mom said to write to you and get your opinion. Please say yes. — Open House

DEAR OPEN HOUSE As a matter of courtesy no one should open a bedroom door and walk in without first knocking. Since your bedroom is in the direct line of family traffic you should have the little book on your door to insure privacy. A 13-year-old girl is no baby.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Before You Marry—Is It Love Or Sex?" enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long self-addressed stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

DEAR ANN LANDERS I came here recently from Ireland and am faced with a problem. I am staying in the home of American friends and am encountering for the first time the American tea bag. What is a person supposed to do with the tea bag after it has been used? It seems uncouth to place the soggy disreputable thing on the saucer. One cannot leave it in the cup as the tea becomes too brisk.

I have searched for the answer in books on American etiquette but can find nothing. Can you help? — Isle of Brim

DEAR ERIN Tea bags are a great convenience, but guests should not have to figure out what to do with them. The tea bags should be used in the kitchen and then removed. No guest should be burdened with this do-it-yourself project.

Sticking in Frying Pan

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN
Q I have an inexpensive aluminum frying pan. No matter what I fry in it much of the food sticks to the skillet. How could this be prevented?
A Many supermarkets and housewares dealers, as well as large hardware stores now carry a non-stick preparation in aerosol form to be sprayed on the inner surface of skillets, etc. to prevent food sticking to the metal. Worth your trying!

Q I have a metal heat duct in a corner of my dining room. When it was put in, it was covered with asbestos. I painted over the duct to match the dining room walls. It looked nice at first, but from the heat the paint is peeling off and chipping loose. Is there anything I could put on this duct so the paint will adhere and withstand the heat?
A It's not clear whether you removed the asbestos coating and painted the metal itself or painted over the asbestos. In any case, paint should be applied to a cold surface (when the heat is turned off) which remains cold until the paint has thoroughly dried. And damage the finish by removing the surface should be absolutely clean and free of all trace of grease, soot, grime, etc. before applying the paint. Remove all loose and peeling paint with fine steel wool and turpentine. For best results use a radiator enamel specially made to withstand heat.

Q My bathroom fixtures are maroon. We have hard water which has formed white streaks around the toilet bowl. They look dreadful and I can't remove them. I spoke to the builder who said there is nothing I can do. Can you offer any suggestion to eliminate this condition?
A Yes. Consult a water conditioning contractor about having a water softener installed. This can be arranged on a rental or purchase basis. Although harsh cleansers or chemicals should not be used regularly on porcelain because they paint has thoroughly dried. And damage the finish by removing the white streaks by using a dish mop to apply a solution of oxalic acid (poison) in water to them. Then rinse with plenty of water to remove all trace of the acid.

The Vienna Coup Saves Slam Bid

One hundred years ago the greatest player of the age spent three days trying to work out a play that became known as the Vienna Coup. Just a few weeks ago a hand of this kind was solved right at the bridge table by many contestants in the annual Intercollegiate Bridge Championships.

East wins the first trick with the ace of hearts and returns the five of clubs. South has 11 tricks in top cards and needs one other trick for the slam.

Some of the college students ran the spades and then tried the diamond finesse. Down one. Some of them led out the ace of diamonds first, hoping to drop a singleton queen, but then went after the spades and a diamond finesse. Same sad fate.

This sort of play couldn't be a Vienna Coup. After all, the greatest player of the 19th century wouldn't have spent three days on an ordinary finesse.

Indian Gift

The Vienna Coup is a sort of Indian gift. First you set up a trick for an opponent and then you squeeze him out of it.

South wins the second trick with the king of clubs and cashes the high hearts. West discards a club on the last high heart. South also cashes the ace of diamonds.

South next cashes the ace of clubs — the key play. This is the unblocking play that brings home the wampum topped with whipped cream. East discards a heart. Declarer then runs dummy's spades, noticing that West can follow suit only once. West is known to have started with one spade and two hearts. Since East could play only one club, West started with the remaining seven spades or bread cut into 10 different shapes, spread with something good rather than merely expensive, look elegant served on your best trays or platters. I suggest you call a temporary halt to your weekend entertaining. Give yourselves a breather. Start building up a backlog. When you've laid a modest foundation, save that two to 10 per cent each month without fail. Then have a party—without the hangover.

Dear Mary Feeley:

This might be an eye-opener to the woman who wrote you asking how much a wife is worth—and a jolt to her husband, who scoffed at the idea a wife might be worth as much as $7,200 a year!

Recently, the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Florida ruled that a husband was entitled to an award of $150,000 for the wrongful death of his wife. (She died shortly after receiving a transfusion of mis-matched blood.) Aside from her husband, she left six children ranging in age from a few days to 12 years. The award included $98,838 for the loss of her services, and the following are the judge's conclusions as to the valuation of a wife:

I conclude that the expense to the father of providing the children a home, the services of a suitable person to run the home and minister to the children's needs, and the services of domestic help can be met by providing the plaintiff $8,500 per year for 18 years, compounded at four per cent is $98,838.

An additional $25,000 was assessed as a proper award for the loss of the companionship of the wife and $26,000 to cover funeral expenses, pain and suffering.

The conclusions in this case serve to dramatize the economic value of a wife and, particularly, her services which are usually accepted as automatically as she performs them.

Thomas M. Xenia, Ohio

Dear Thomas:

In the name of worthy wives everywhere, I thank you! I agree that the judge's valuation may give a lot of husbands pause to think!

Live Within Your Income Separate Food Budget From Party Expenses

BY MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management
Dear Miss Feeley:

We have a hangover after every party we give. And it isn't from drinking. It's an aching budget that's bothering my husband and me.

Even if we have just a few friends over on a weekend, the grocery money seems to evaporate, and there's nothing left to feed ourselves on the rest of the week. Yet our friends seem to entertain just as much as we do, and they're pretty much in the same income group we're in. How do they do it?

Lucille K.C., Atlanta

Dear Mrs. C.:

They probably separate their grocery money from their entertainment budget. That's where you're making your big mistake. Entertainment or recreation shouldn't have to come out of the regular food allotment.

Generally speaking, two to 10 per cent of your spendable income each month can be devoted to entertainment. This is a sum that shouldn't even be on speaking terms with your weekly grocery money.

Maybe you're entertaining a touch more lavishly than you can afford, in the first place. Try serving interesting casseroles that don't depend on expensive meats. Whole cook books are devoted to the subject. Any hostess can spend a small fortune on hors d'oeuvres—but is it worth it? Inexpensive crackers or bread cut into different shapes, spread with something good rather than merely expensive, look elegant served on your best trays or platters. Never forget the advantage of fine serving dishes and handsome glassware, when you're serving simple foods!

BORROWING CHURCH

Dear Louise: The exact date has not been set for our wedding, but we hope it will be in about six months. The problem isn't when, it's where. My fiancé and I each belong to a different church but both churches are too small for the number of people we wish to invite. Is it proper to "borrow" a large one and, if so, how does one go about it?

Louise Davis Answers:
Borrowing a church isn't new. If it can be arranged, there will undoubtedly be a special fee, which is understandable. Your first move would be to explain the problem to your own clergyman, who may volunteer to consult the pastor of the larger church. If not, he will tell you what to do. If you wish to have your own clergy-

WANTS SMALL BOUQUET

Dear Louise: When I got married, I will have a small corsage of three white orchids, as I don't wish to have a large bouquet. I would like to wear these orchids when we leave for our wedding trip. I am having two attendants. Will they be disappointed if I don't throw my bouquet as is usually done at weddings?

Louise Davis Answers:
No, especially if you explain to them in advance that you don't want a large bouquet and what you intend to do with your orchids. They'll be prepared.

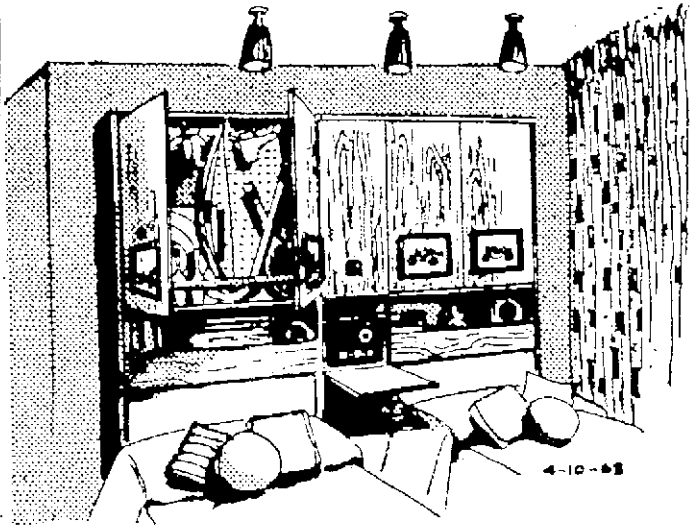

Churches Hold Card Parties

Storage in Little Space

If storage accommodation can't cabinets are most convenient for spread out horizontally, increase odd-size, odd-shaped items boys it vertically — use upper wall in-acquire, but according to the floor instead of floor. Many hard-to-store-plan you sent, your sons' narrow items tuck up neatly in a tall cab-room would be uncomfortably inel, and this one, suggested to crowded by a door cabinet of any solve Mrs. G. C.'s problem, lo-size on the only unoccupied wall. cates on wall that's almost al-Space savers might be two stack-ways wasted, above beds.

As you say, Mrs. C., built-in or a structure built upward from headboards. The beds could move slightly forward, as they do here, to gain roomy bin space behind them. The section shown open is backed by pegboard, and others have adjustable shelves. Deep moldings framing pictures are glued to four doors to act as pulls, and lower center doors drop down to serve as a two-level nightstand. The cabinet could be an independ-ent structure bolted to the wall, rather than an immovable built-in.

Mrs. C. E.: "Our large, bright living room has space beige car-pet, a rose-beige sofa, one green chair, one brown chair and dra-peries and lamps in neutral beige. The furniture wood is walnut. What color should we paint the walls?"

A lively medium shade of rosebeige, with plenty of rose in it, would unify the scheme, but to be effective, a scheme like this needs generous helpings of wall decorations and accessories to bring in more color. Among good choices are bright pictures with dark wood frames, some with touches of gilt, and some with gilt frames, and gilt and green in accessories, which might also in-clude rose-red glass. If the sofa fabric is plain rather than self-patterned, you might add pillows in a pattern or with decoration that repeats the other scheme col-ors, with green predominant. Plain pillows might be deep bright rose and green.

Mrs. T. S. D.: "When we move, we'll have a larger living room than we have now, and our gold carpet will be made into a rug."

It will have the effect of an area rug, with a wide border of floor showing all around. I notice that dark floors are fashionable, and wonder if we should have the floor darkened instead of refinished in the golden oak color it is now."

The better choice depends on the complete color scheme. A dark color which relates to furni-ture woods might be very effec-tive, and it would flatter the gold rug. But if there are too many contrasts in the room, it might be better to keep the floor light: no it blends with the rug to keep com-plete coverage underfoot more nearly one color.

Questions On Sewing

Settling an argument department: Will you please settle an argument for me? I say you recently wrote that a permanently-pleated skirt should never be shortened at the hem but at the waist. My friend claims you wrote that it should be done at the hem. Which is right?

Pat Scott

A I wrote that it is generally better to shorten pleated skirts from the hem because if you lift them at the waistline, they may be too large there. Shortening can be done either way, but you must decide whether lifting will outsize the skirt. I always shorten from the hem.

Q When I make a facing on a square corner I have trouble with the corner as in figure 1 and 2. Trim the seam allowance close to the stitching and press open. Now, stitch the facing to the garment as in figure 3. Turn the seam allowance, turn the facing to the inside. Turn the raw edges of the facing under and hem as in figure 3.

Q I would like to make a two-piece bathing suit. What type of material and lining should I use? Can I design a pattern of my own for the top?—MRS. F.F.

A I suggest a cotton fabric for the outside. The lining can be of cotton too, in a solid color, or nylon jersey. I don't recommend designing your own top. This is difficult to make even with a pattern, because of the fitting problem.

Q My skirts seem to "sit out" even though they are lined. I am not heavy and my skirts are not tight. How can this be prevented?—MISS M. J.

A You have obviously taken all necessary precautions to keep your skirts from stretching. I can only guess that the fabrics are either jersey or loose weaves that will stretch a little no matter what you do with them.

In response to request for reprints of her series on slipcovers, Patricia Scott has compiled them in booklet form. How To Make Slipcovers. Fresh Approach to Make-Up

The fresh, youthful mood of fashion calls for a fresh approach to make-up. Masky make-ups are entirely out of key. Besides, they have been so overdone as to be come repellent.

What's wanted now is the iridescent glow of young, natural beauty. To provide it there is a whole new palette of cosmetics. It begins with a pink pre-foundation that imparts a faint blush to the skin. Thereafter, a natural shade of base and powder is applied with a light hand. The effect has the diffused radiance of complexion perfection.

It is furthered by a film of nearly gray or brown eyeshadow—the merest film. The choice of mascara depends on the coloring of the lashes. Complementary shades for light lashes are charcoal or brown. For dark lashes charcoal or black. If a liner is used it should match the mascara and it should be soft enough to draw the haziest of lines. The stroke to work for is about one-sixteenth of an inch wide and as sheer as veiling.

The only possible finish is a sparkling lipstick. And to that, lend new lipstick's bestow sheen and gloss—a dewy look. The shades are buoyant, neither washy nor harsh. They are there, whether toned on the pink peach of clear red side.

You cannot imagine the charm of this make-up. You have to try it to discover its powers of enhancement. How you look like yourself, only better. How your fashions look better for you, just as they always should.

Whatever your skin problems to find a solution send for booklet, "A Lovelier Complexion." Write Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost and handling.

Most Fellows Need to Have a Little 'Romp'

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Eve Jones: We have two boys, one 6½ and one 4. The older boy is busy from morning until night building bridges, working puzzles, doing the activities in his magazines and playing with his puppy.

But, except for playing with his brother, he doesn't play with other children more often than once or twice a month. He'll go over to someone else's house if I tell him to and he gets along with the neighbors nicely, but he really isn't very happy about it.

His teacher says he plays well with other children at school, but he's not a leader because he's too quiet. Is he too much of a loner for his age?

MRS. J. W. First ask instead "What harm is coming to him from being occupied with his indoor interests so much of the time?"

One real harm, certainly, is that he isn't getting out into the fresh air to exercise and run off some of his energy. So, without saying anything about playing with other people, insist that from now on he spend at least an hour after school playing outdoors.

In all likelihood he'll strike up closer friendships with the neighborhood kids as he begins to be where they can play with him. If not, start asking "Why doesn't he play with other children more enjoyably?"

If they're not bullies, he probably doesn't get close to them because he's afraid he may not be able to control his temper. And this kind of fear reflects too much control and emphasis by you on being nice and quiet in the home.

Getting him into the open on skates or a bike won't help free him and relax him unless you take some of the pressures off at home too. Once he knows you don't expect constant self-control he'll find fun in being rowdy with the neighbors.

Dear Eve Jones: The advice in your column is the most ridiculous I have ever read. By not permitting a 13-year-old boy or girl to date steady with the people they like and want to date, parents are showing that they don't trust the child. And that is the worst thing they can show.

Mrs. F. W. That's a phony argument typical of a 13-year-old. Trust isn't involved at all. It's a simple matter of not letting a child do something that can do him no good and that can easily lead to harm.

Send your questions to Dr. Eve Jones, Appleton Post-Crescent. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Resurrection and Immortality Aren't Interchangeable Terms

BY DR. THOMAS S. KEPLER
Professor of Literature College

Modern Christian man who believes in the continuity of life beyond the experience of death, whether it be that of the immortality of the soul or the resurrection of the body, resorts to a number of solid arguments to establish his faith.

Mainly he looks at the nature of God, called "Father" by our Lord, whose qualities of mercy and wisdom make it obligatory for God never to annihilate the immortal nature of his children. If this God is both moral and full of grace, immortality is a necessary postulate.

Secondly, the experience of the human race, especially as seen through expressions of the great world religions, has shown the universal belief and hope of man's eternal nature. Different religious cultures hold diverse views of life after death; but the common belief and hope are nevertheless there.

The conservation of values in the universe is a third argument which has convinced some of life's eternal continuity.

If energy is conserved in the universe, how much more necessary is it that minds of men be conserved, if this be a rational universe, runs the argument. Especially if the universe is encompassed by the Spirit of God, such a preservation of values in terms of personalities is presupposed.

If man, after his years of struggle to achieve purpose and meaning, is destroyed at death, one could only cry out, "What infinite waste!" Hence from the purpose of man's creation is deduced the assurance of his immortality.

Along with the arguments of God's merciful purpose for man making immortality obligatory, the Christian holds the resurrection of Jesus in the New Testament as his cardinal argument for belief in life after death. For many this argument is all-sufficient for faith in life continuing beyond the grave.

Immortality
As modern man speaks of "life after death," he occasionally uses terms such as "immortality" and "resurrection" as synonyms, employing them interchangeably. The two terms, however, in their original usage have different connotations.

"Immortality" belongs to Greek thought and relates to the fact that the soul continues to exist—apart from the body after the body dies. The soul belongs to the eternal world, while the body belongs to the temporal world.

Immortality is thus not so much a gift from God as an accomplishment of man and deals with man's emancipation from his temporal body. Hence "immortality" is not a term used in the New Testament, for the focusing point of New Testament thought is that of the bodily "resurrection" of Jesus, not the mere survival of his soul after his bodily death.

Resurrection
The resurrection of Jesus and of "everyman" is a gift of God, who in the life beyond the grave gives man another body, namely one that is "glorified" or "spiritual." New Testament thought never conceives man's continuity beyond the grave apart from some kind of "body."

Immortality and the resurrection have one characteristic in common, according to Ian T. Ramsey:

"At the outset let us recognize that all doctrines of a future life, whatever their variety, are alike thought and relates to the fact that all arise as so many versions of one answer to a general logical problem which everyone who for to the eternal world, while the body belongs to the temporal world, while the body belongs to the temporal world.

The resurrection of Jesus as a "mystery" left its influence upon men living in the spatio-temporal world of Jesus' day. In the centuries which followed, however, it was an event which was grasped by "faith-knowledge" rather than by empirical knowledge. Men themselves do not contain the quality of deathlessness, but must receive it as a gift from God if they are to overcome the destructive power of death (1 Cor. 15:53-4). Jesus Christ's death and resurrection have shown man a hope and a way by which the corruption of his human life has been effectively overcome (11 Tim. 1:10; Rom. 11:7). While the Christian man to a large degree "earns" the award of eternal life by asserting his faith in Christ, the greater meaning for man's inheritance of eternal life is through God's grace extending him this gift. BLADE SUIT

"But Why The Candles, Holy Water And Beads?"

"It looks like hokus-pokus to me," Dave Smith said to Father Crane.

Dave was expressing a quite common view held by many non-Catholics... that the Catholic use of such articles as beads, crucifixes, medals and holy water is unnecessary in religion and even smacks of pagan superstition.

"What good does it do," Dave asked, "to light a candle or burn incense? And how can a little medal around my neck protect me from accidents?"

Unfortunately, too many people outside the Catholic Faith have a complete misunderstanding of these religious articles and the use to which they are put. There is nothing pagan or superstitious about them, and they do have a very real religious meaning and value.

"Actually," Father Crane told Dave, "religious articles used by Catholics are meant to be helps to their religious life—nothing more. The value of such articles is not in the metal, wood or wax of which they are made, nor in the form they may have... but in the prayer of the Church and of Christ, in Whose name the Church prays in blessing them... as well as the fervor of the user's own prayer and his good disposition."

But Dave was still not convinced. He argued that religion is a spiritual thing... that it requires no external manifestations. "Yes," the priest agreed, "it is spiritual. But isn't it the natural thing for a human being to give outward expression to the things within his heart? How, for example, could you be sure that your mother loved you if she gave no sign that she did?"

Our Lord, Father Crane added, could have cured the blind man (John 9:6) merely by willing it. Instead, He first made a salve of clay and anointed the man's eyes. In blessing little children, He did not have to lay His hands on them—but He did. Many people, Father Crane added, think the Catholic practice of kneeling to pray is unnecessary... yet Jesus, in the Garden of Gethsemane, "kneeling down... began to pray" (Luke 22:41).

Many Catholic practices which seem strange to you now, would make a deep and convincing impression upon your mind and heart if you understood them. And this is your invitation to investigate.

We will gladly send you without cost or obligation a highly interesting pamphlet explaining such things as the Catholic use of crucifixes, medals, incense, holy water, candles, and special Catholic prayers and practices such as the Rosary, Devotion to the Sacred Heart, and Lent. It costs you nothing to learn the truth, and the truth will be most interesting. Nobody will call on you. Write today for Pamphlet AP-38.

Pete Ward (8) makes the tag on Detroit's Al Kaline in a rundown in Tuesday's game in Detroit. Kaline was caught after Norm Cash grounded to Ward in the second inning. Pete Ward's 3-Run Homer Gives White Sox 7-5 Win

Joe Pepitone Hits 2 Circuit Blasts for Yanks

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians, with an assist from the Canadian Air Force and the 5BX, are away warring, winning their opener with a four-homer salvo as the American League baseball season began to run full throttle.

Using ballplayers nobody ever heard of, the Indians belted 20 gulfie winner Camilo Pascual solidly Tuesday for a 5-4 opening day victory over Minnesota that had new Manager Budie Tebbetts chirping.

Tebbetts borrowed the 11-minute calisthenic program labeled plan 5B by the Canadian Air Force and instituted it in spring training to get the Indians prepared for a quick getaway. There is no doubt his nobodies got away quick.

Hurls 7-Hitter

The nobodies included Jim Grant who pitched a seven-hitter and homer hitters Woodie Held, John Romo, rookie Max Alvis and newly acquired Fred Whitfield.

Said Tebbetts in somewhat of a challenge.

Cleveland has some ballplayers but nobody ever heard of them. They will.

Joe Pepitone made himself heard for the New York Yankees, cracking two homers and a double in support of Ralph Terry's six-hit pitching as the world champions got started with an 8-2 triumph at Kansas City.

In other American League openers, the Chicago White Sox edged Detroit 7-5 behind newly acquired Pete Ward and Host Wilhelm and the Los Angeles Angels defeated Boston 4-1 behind Ken McBride's four-hitter. Baltimore and Washington, who opened Monday, were not scheduled.

Tebbetts put plan 5BX into operation the first day of spring training. He explained he picked the Canadian exercises because they improve your agility, strength and coordination. Nobody's about to argue with that at the moment.

The Indians' first three runs came on solo homers by Romano in the second inning and Whitfield and Alvis in the fourth. Then in the seventh with the score tied 5-5, Alvis led off with a double and Held crushed a 45-foot homer that put the game out of the Twins' reach. Grant was touched for solo homers by Lenny Green and Vic Power.

Pepitone's slugging paved the way for Terry who received 13 hit support against a Kansas City

Cline Makes Good Debut

Bobby Bragan Hopes For Better Bounces

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Bobby Bragan, the Milwaukee Braves' new manager, returned to Forbes Field Tuesday but not as a winner.

The Braves were beaten 3-2 by the Pittsburgh Pirates, the team that Bragan managed in years gone by. But there was no sentiment expressed by Bragan who obviously was concentrating on the 161 games remaining in the season.

"We are bound to get some better bounces than we got today," he said. "Line drives won't sail right at somebody every day."

Special Mention

He was referring to Hank Aaron's first-inning smash picked out of the air by shortstop Dick Schofield and Gus Bell's ninth-inning drive that was grabbed by Bill Mazeroski and turned into an inning and rally ending double play.

First 'Sell-Out' Shift Recorded as Bowling Entries Keep Pouring in

Bowl-O-Rama Total Now Close to 350

The first "sell-out" for the Post-Crescent Bowl-O-Rama has been recorded.

All spots for the 2 p.m. shift Sunday, April 28, have been taken. So in filling out your entry blanks from now on, avoid that shift or you will have to settle for your alternate choice.

There is still plenty of room on other shifts. The jam-up for the 2 p.m. shift on that Sunday resulted from the fact that the State YFW Tournament will be winding up that day at the 41 Bowl.

The Bowl-O-Rama opens April 24, less than two weeks from now. Entries will be accepted until midnight April 30, giving you a little better than two weeks to reserve a spot.

Pete Ward, former Fox Cities Foxes third baseman, made his debut with the Chicago White Sox Tuesday by hitting a game-winning home run against Detroit. (AP Wirephoto)

52 Entries Recorded

A total of 52 entries were recorded Tuesday in one of the largest entries received days so far. Included was a group of 12 leggers from the Appleton Coated Paper League and nine from the Businessmen's League at Little Chute.

The latest entries pushed the total for the tournament near the 350 mark, putting the prize pot near $700.

A breakdown of entries shows that of the 52 received Tuesday 23 were bowlers who will be competing in the men's Class A division and 16 were for men's Class B. There were two for the women's Class A and 11 for women's Class B.

Class A for men is for those with an average of 161 or higher or while women's Class A is for those with 241 or higher. The Class B for men is 160 and under and women with 140 under averages.

Wrist Watches

First place winners in each of the categories will receive a handsome gold sport-type wrist watch in addition to the first place cash prize. In addition, trophies will be given to the bowlers recording the highest individual game in each of the four divisions and merchandise awards include four bowling bags and four pairs of shoes will also be presented.

One of the most popular features of the tournament has proved to be the husband and wife bowling together idea. In many cases, three couples have got together, entering as a group and thereby taking over a set of two lanes for themselves for the tournament. Four games will be rolled by each bowler across four lanes and there will be three bowlers to a lane.

Handicaps for the tournament will be figured from a scratch total of 200 for men and 180 for women. The handicap will be two-thirds of the difference between a bowler's regular league average as of March 1, 1963, and scratch.

Thus, a man bowler with a 155 average would have a 30 pin handicap for each game of the tournament. A woman with a 135 average also would have a 30 pin spot.

Entries with the $2 entry fee can be filled in and mailed to Bowling Editor, Post-Crescent, Appleton or dropped off at the 41 Bowl.

'It Feels Great,' Says Ward of White Sox Job

Declares His Homer Came Off Slider Or Fast Ball

By RALPH MUELLER Post-Crescent Staff Writer

It feels great, commented Pete Ward referring to the fact that he was now a regular third baseman with a major league club, the Chicago White Sox.

The 1960 Fox Cities third sacker, especially meant great after hitting a key home run in Tuesday's American League opener at Detroit. The clout wiped out a 5-4 Detroit lead and the White Sox went on to a 7-5 victory.

It was either a fast ball or a slider, said Pete, speaking of the Jim Bunning pitch that he sent out of Tiger Stadium. I didn't hit much else off that guy. Ward went on.

Hours After Game

The usually talkative Ward was trying hard to be modest as we talked with him via telephone hours after the game. Actually, the time was 12:45 a.m. in Detroit and we asked, "Were you sleeping?" Yes, he said, but I still love everybody in Fox Cities just the same.

I really liked playing there, he related. It could be added that life was pleasant for Ward here in 1960 as he walked off with just about every possible trophy.

There was one that he missed, however, and that was the Most Popular Player trophy won by outfielder Charlie Johnson that year. He wanted that one more than anything.

Ward has changed in many ways since his spectacular year here. He no longer bats with his hands spread. He closed his grip a year ago this spring making his own decision to do so, but following advice once given him by this year's Foxes manager, Billy DeMars.

The Lewis and Clark graduate is happy over the trade which sent him to the White Sox. He is glad he can play at his regular position, third base, rather than in the outfield as Baltimore was using him at the end of last year.

Manager Al Lopez is giving Ward a clean shot at the position this year and it is up to Ward to hold it. He had a .280-plus average for exhibition games.

He is also happy about batting in the No. 6 position. It gives me a chance to drive in some runs, said Ward. He was off and running in the RBI race Tuesday with four.

The White Sox are counting on Ward to come through this year.

Minnesota Unit Takes Second Place in WIBC

MEMPHIS (AP)—The Lowry Lanes of Minneapolis moved into second place in division 1 team standings at the Woman's Inter-national Bowling Congress Tournament Tuesday night with a three-game series of 2,604.

The Lowries got off to an auspicious start with games of 850 and 823. But then they exploded for a 931.

It was not nearly enough, however, to overtake Kingham Dealers of Houston, Tex., which took the lead with 2,716.

Ted Savage's Ninth-Inning Single Topples Braves, 3-2

Reliever Bob Hendley Absorbs Opening-Day Loss; Burgess And Bailey Hit Home Runs

PITTSBURGH (AP)—"It looks like an ulcer year," president John McHale said after the Milwaukee Braves stubbed their toes as they dashed into the 1963 National League race Tuesday.

The Braves began the season by losing 3-2 to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Bob Bailey, a 21-year-old bonus rookie who weathered a ninth-inning jam-packed with managerial strategy and some great plays, and Ted Savage, an import from the Philadelphia Phillies, were the Pirate stars.

Rig Bailey cracked a long home run in the seventh to put the Pirates ahead 2-1. He came around for another turn at the plate in the ninth after the Braves had tied the score at 2-2 and had two out.

Bill Virdon preceded Bailey to the plate and looped a single to right. Bailey then took the swing that produced the homer, but this time the ball only trickled down the third base line and dropped safely right behind the bag out of the reach of Eddie Mathews.

Slides Home

Savage came on as a pinch batter and dropped a single into left, allowing Virdon to slide home with the deciding run under Mack Jones' throw.

The Braves had enjoyed the lead most of the game, pushing over a run in the second. Jones led off the inning, and got hit by a pitch thrown by Pirate starter Bob Friend. Norm Larker lined a single to right, sending Jones to second. Both runners moved up a base on a balk and Jones scored as Del Crandall grounded out.

Milwaukee starter Lew Burdette was short of his fiery, frenzied spring form but still held the Pirates at bay until the sixth when Smokey Burgess slammed a homer into the upper deck in right to tie the score.

Bailey's homer came in the next inning and after that Burdette was excused. He'd allowed seven hits in as many innings, walked three and posted one strikeout.

Bob Hendley got the Pirates out in order in the eighth and the Braves started their ninth inning as though they intended to win going away.

Hank Aaron beat out a slow infield roller and went to third as Mathews singled to second.

Then the managers started to work. Friend was removed and Bob Veale sent to the mound for the Pirates. The change didn't pay any dividend, because Jones drilled a double down the leftfield line, sending Aaron home to tie the score and Mathews to third.

Left-handed swinging Tommie Aaron was sent to bat for Larker against right-hander Veale. But Veale was lifted and Roy Face came along giving Aaron an intentional walk to fill the bases.

Crandall jabbed a fly to short right and it looked like the Braves were on the way until Roberto Clemente came racing in.

Ghost Baseball Drills Are Off To Slow Start

Team Has No Home Field; Some Players on Tour

KAUKAUNA — Baseball drills at Kaukauna High School are off to a slow start with Coach Harry Wilson hurting for a practice field and manpower.

The field problem is one Wilson will have to cope with throughout the season as the Ghosts will not have a home diamond for the campaign. At the present time work is still progressing on the new Kaukauna athletic grounds and the baseball portion will not be ready for 1963 spring or summer play.

As far as manpower is concerned, Wilson said that practically all of his upperclassmen, including lettermen who will form the nucleus for the squad, are currently with a group of students on a tour through Washington, D.C. and some eastern states.

The Kaukauna mentor expects to have around nine or 10 lettermen when the season opens, but does not have a full line on personnel yet.

All Kaukauna games will be played away and the Ghosts have not scheduled any non-conference tilts. The Mid-Eastern Conference season opens April 20.

Wilson sent underclassmen through a workout Monday using the old baseball diamond for infield work. "We have the infield portion to work on," Wilson said, but when it comes to hitting fly balls to the outfielders we move to another area."

Drysdale Pitches Dodgers to 5-1 Win Over Cubs

4 Giants Hit Homers in 9-2 Victory at Houston

By JIM BECKER Associated Press Sports Writer

You can be pardoned for that feeling that this is where you came in.

The National League baseball pennant chase got underway in earnest Tuesday, and these were some of the results on the first full day of action.

Don Drysdale, a 25-game winner last year, won for the Los Angeles Dodgers. Jack Sanford, 24 wins, got the victory for the San Francisco Giants as Willie Mays, Orlando Cepeda, Felipe Alou and Willie McCovey homered for the Giants.

Art Mahaffey, 19 wins, set down the hard hitting Cincinnati Reds on four hits for the Philadelphia Phils.

And the New York Mets, 120 losses last year, fell on their faces.

The scores were: Los Angeles 5,

Chicago Cubs 1, San Francisco 9, Houston 2, Philadelphia 2, Cincinnati 1, and the St. Louis Cardinals 7, New York Mets 0.

The Pittsburgh Pirates who dropped the annual day ahead opener Monday at Cincinnati to the Reds, evened their record with a 3-2 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

The Dodger victory may have been costly. Shortstop Maury Wills, the league's Most Valuable Player last year, left after the sixth inning with a jammed left ankle and was doubtful for today's game with the Cubs.

Wills Thrown Out

Wills, who stole 104 bases last season, revealed before the game that he had become worried about his valuable legs and had gone to a hypnotist during the winter

Toronto Takes Playoff Lead With 4-2 Win

Nevin, Duff Each Score Two Goals Against Red Wings

TORONTO (AP)—At a practice Monday Punch Imlach made Bob Nevin spend 15 minutes shooting pucks after the other Toronto Maple Leafs had gone to the dressing room.

This, the Toronto Manager Coach said was "just to show I was dissatisfied."

Nevin apparently got the hint. Dick Duff also must have got the word.

The two wingers scored two goals each Tuesday night as the Leafs defeated the Detroit Red Wings 4-2 in the first game of the best of seven Stanley Cup hockey final playoff.

For Duff it was a continuation of the sharp upswing in play that he was shown in the playoffs. For Nevin it ended his scoring famine in the playoffs.

And though the Red Wings did not have great cause for celebration, left winger Larry Jeffrey had good reason for personal satisfaction — he scored both Detroit goals.

Mahovich Hurt
All was not peaches and cream for the Leafs' Detroit defenseman Bill Gadsky checked left winger Frank Mahovich in the first period and the Leafs' big gun was sent to the hospital with a knee injury.

The extent of his injury or how long he might be out will not be known until later today.

Nevin made it 3-0 at 14:42 of the first period with some assistance from another Detroit defenseman Howie Young. With Toronto's Tim Horton in the penalty box, Nevin grabbed the puck from between Young's skates after the Detroit player had lost control of it. The Leaf cut in on Savick from the left side to beat him from close in.

Jeffrey who scored one goal in Detroit's semifinal series against Detroit got both his goals in the second period. Toronto goaltender Ed Johnston stopped a long shot by Jeffrey with his skate but the puck dropped to the ice between his legs. Before he could spot it, Jeffrey swooped in and poked the puck into the net at 5:36.

At 8:05 with Leaf defenseman Bob Bain in the Penalty box, Corbie Hove put Jeffrey in the clear with a perfect pass and the winger falling Savick.

Hove scored his second goal at 8:08 of the third period steering

Wills Won't Use Hypnotism For Current Ankle Injury

BY JOE MOOSHUI

CHICAGO (AP)—Maury Wills who sought the help of a hypnotist to cure himself of some imaginary legs now has some real ones to worry about.

The Los Angeles Dodger shortstop, the National League's Most Valuable Player in 1962, jammed his ankle in a dating base running play Tuesday but insisted he'd play today regardless of the injury and without the benefit of hypnotism.

Mitchell Tops Pass Receivers

Frank Clarke, of Dallas, Leads With 14 TD Catches

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Mitchell of Washington and Dallas Frank Clarke shared passing receiving honors Tuesday as the National Football League continued to award official crowns won on the playing field in December.

Mitchell topped the pass receivers with 72 catches, nine more than runner up Sonny Randle of St. Louis. Mitchell, former Cleveland halfback who combined with Skins quarterback Norm Snead to form one of the league's most potent combinations also amassed a leading 134 yards.

Clarke, taking his passes from alternating quarterbacks Eddie LeBaron and Don Meredith, was No. 1 in touchdowns with 14 and average gain 22.2 yards on 47 receptions according to official league statistics released Tuesday.

Randle had the best one-game performance with 16 catches for 256 yards in a 31-28 loss at New York Nov. 4. The longest reception was made by Minnesota's Charley Ferguson who took a pass from Fran Tarkenton for 80 yards in a 31-30 loss at Chicago Nov. 11.

They'll Do It Every Time

Mets' Opener Looks Like Repeat of 1962

Casey Holds Wreath Wrong Way; Loose Play in Field

NEW YORK (AP)—The top off came early. The British won the battle of Bunker Hill.

Then Casey Stengel held the field a wreath upside down. And the hand finished a good four years in the of the since in the national anthem.

After that the new Mets took the field wide-eyed as the first group that would make the fans forget about 1962 when they were widely considered the worst baseball team of all time.

They played themselves into the cellar before they got to bat. Now a year and a day old the Mets have almost never been anywhere else. Tuesday was the opening day of their second season but it seemed that winter had never intervened.

They lost their first nine games in 1962; the opener to the St. Louis Cardinals. This time the Cards won.

A much larger crowd than was expected, 25,849 turned out. It appeared to be made up entirely of lower classes, that odd new breed unmoved by the 1962 Mets, who drew nearly a million although they won only 46 games.

Three bards entertained them before the game including an unusual group of leggy high school girls who enacted the battle of Bunker Hill, perhaps with insufficient rehearsal.

At 10:05 the British won in a walk, as the home forces fell back long before the whites of anyone's eyes were in sight.

Then long suffering Casey Stengel got a big wreath of flowers with a good luck ribbon attached. He clutched it wrong side up and posed for photographers with his head stuck in the middle.

Oil Slick on Mississippi Is Clearing

MADISON, AP—A state conservation specialist said Tuesday river action and wind appeared to be clearing an oil slick on the upper Mississippi River and eliminating the danger to waterfowl resting on the Wisconsin shore.

Ruth Howard of the State Resource Development Department made an aerial inspection of the area on orders from Gov. John W. Reynolds.

Petroleum and seepage oil spilled into the river as the result of industrial mishaps at Markate and St. Ignace. Minn. has claimed the lives of thousands of ducks.

In Washington Rep. Lester Johnson D-Wis. said Tuesday he had even a telephone touch with Reynolds and Gov. Karl Rolvaag of Minnesota to urge them to request federal aid available under the Water Pollution Control Act to combat the problem.

Gov. Johnson said Monday led they would contact Murray Stem, assistant chief of water pollution control at the Public Health Service about the situation.

Johnson estimated two million gallons of oil had escaped into the river and said it is destroying ducks, geese, other wildlife and fish.

Howard said the river was thickened by oil from near the Twin Cities to Lake Pepin, a distance of about 40 miles. He said old Great and sloughs along the stretch were covered with oil.

The State Conservation Department said that "only a handful of ducks have been killed by the slick along the Wisconsin border."

team that seemed to have little going for it besides beautiful, tradition breaking green and gold uniforms. Elston Howard also homered for the Yankees, tagging Joser Diego Segul with one on in the fourth. Rookie Bill Arvan and newcomer Chuck Essegian connected for the A's.

Hit Off Buns
Ward lined a three-run homer in the seventh inning off loser Jim Bunning, wiping out a 5-4 Detroit lead and Wilhelm came on and retired the last nine men in a row to protect Frank Baumann's victory.

Both Ward and Wilhelm were acquired by the White Sox in an off season trade with Baltimore. Gus Triandos, also acquired from the Orioles, homered for the Tigers.

The Angels wrapped it up against Red Sox starter Bill Monbouquette with a four run fifth inning uprising capped by Lee Thomas three-run homer. The first run came across when Jim Fregosi, throwing error by Ed Bressoud, and eventually scored on Billy Monahan's single. Carl Yastrzemski's homer in the seventh broke up McBride's shutout bid.

Gen Van Dyke Slams National Honor Set

KIMBERLY — Gen Van Dyke, a veteran of 30 years of bowling who has gone over the 500 mark in series "only a couple of times," slammed a 610 national honor count in the Kimberly Ladies League while competing at Ludwig's Lanes, Freedom, Monday night.

The league bowls at Ludwig's since a fire at Jerry's Lanes in Kimberly halted season activity there.

Gen cracked games of 214, 301 and 195 for the national count. She needed a strike and spare in the last frame of the final game and was really worried and didn't think I'd get it."

Mrs. Van Dyke said she seldom gets over the 500 mark for series but has been getting some good sized 400 counts in the last several weeks. She served as a substitute in the league before stepping into a regular bowler's position about a month ago.

When asked how many strikes she had in the game set, Mrs. Van Dyke said she was so excited about the score she never counted strikes but someone told her she had four in a row once.

Salvino, Fazio Lead Hurons in ABC Tourney

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Huron Bowl of Pontiac, Mich., had a chance to move in among the top 10 classic teams at the American Bowling Congress Tournament Tuesday night, but a mixed score by Buzz Fazio took the effort.

As it was the Hurons gained 18th place with 5,993. They shot 3,010 with 2,903 the night before.

Carmen Salvino, winner of the 1962 National Professional Bowlers Assn. 400 Championship, led the Hurons with 657. Fazio had 645 while Steve Nagy shot a sub-400.

Set of Famous Books Latest Contest Prize

BY CAPPY DICK

How many baseballs are in the spring training scene? If you count them correctly and send in an outstandingly neat and original entry, you may win a set of the Encyclopaedia Britannica "Great Books for Children," a collection of 12 volumes containing some of the most exciting stories ever written for boys and girls.

Five sets of these books will be awarded as the national prizes in today's contest, one set to each boy or girl whose entry is selected.

Can you count the baseballs?

ed by the contest judges as one of the five neatest and most original correct ones from all cities where this column is published.

To qualify for a chance to win a set, you must first win a local preliminary prize, a take-apart Space Gun Puzzle. Five of these will be awarded to boys and girls of the Fox Cities area. Their winning entries will be entered automatically in the national competition for the "Great Books for Children." Locally and nationally, entries will be judged not only for accuracy, but neatness and originality.

Count the Baseballs

To enter and try for a prize, count all the baseballs in the picture. Clip it out. Paste it on paper or a postal card. Print the number of baseballs beneath it, together with your name, age and address. Use paints, crayons, cut-outs or any other method of your choice to decorate the entry in the neatest, most original way you can devise.

Finally, address it to Cappy Dick at the Appleton Post-Crescent and mail it before midnight of day after tomorrow. Winners' names will be published here. Their prizes will be sent to them by mail. Judges' decisions will be final. All entries become Cappy Dick's property; none can be returned.

The stories in the "Great Books for Children" are "Tom Sawyer," "Arabian Nights," "Treasure Island," "Black Beauty," "Alice in Wonderland," "Robinson Crusoe," "King Arthur," "Heidi," "Robinson," "Tales from Shakespeare," "Andersen's Fairy Tales" and, in the 12th book, "Pinocchio" and "Aesop's Fables." All the books are illustrated in color.

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

DO REVOLUTIONS RESULT FROM POVERTY? YES NO

No. It is not the destitute who have no faith in the future, nor behavior, rather than to blame the well-to-do who do not want to change the present, but the discontented who create revolutions. In some cases, as with the Industrial Revolution, it is the men of wealth and privilege who create the revolutionary changes in life. Revolutions are more likely to occur, too, when things are getting better. When things are getting worse, men are more likely to try to keep what little they have, than to risk it in demanding basic changes.

San Francisco, Dodgers Win Opening Games to try to get the worries off his mind. Willis apparently hurt the ankle in the third inning when he was thrown out at the plate on a double play.

Drysdale gave up 11 hits but was helped by three double plays, as he won his sixth straight over the Cubs. The Dodgers broke a 1-1 tie in the sixth when Willie Davis tripled and scored on a balk by pitcher Larry Jackson. Rookie Ken McMullen iced the game with a two-run double in the sixth.

The Giants jumped off to a 6-0 lead at Houston. Cepeda's homer in the second opened the scoring and Sanford tripled home two runs in the same inning. Sanford weakened in the 90-degree heat and departed in the sixth after giving up three straight singles. Jack Fisher, picked up in a trade with the Orioles, pitched hitless relief.

Mahaffey, the 24-year-old hard-throwing right-hander, had a two-hit shutout going into the ninth. Frank Robinson opened that inning for the Reds with a single and moved to second on a ground out. Robinson scored when catcher John Edwards smashed a line double. Mahaffey then struck out Gene Freese and rookie Tom Harper to end the game, but only after Freese had missed a home run by a few feet foul.

Jay Pitches Well
Joey Jay, 21-14 last season, also pitched well, giving up only five hits in the seven innings he worked. Three singles, with Don Demeter's coming with two out, scored the first Phillie run in the fourth. In the sixth, John Callison doubled and scored when Cincinnati first baseman Gordie Coleman let a double play relay throw get through him for an error.

Twins' Rollins Will be Able to Play Tuesday

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Third baseman Rich Rollins will be able to play with the Minnesota Twins next Tuesday when the club returns home from a weekend trip to Kansas City.

Rollins was sidelined by a broken left jawbone, suffered when he was struck on the side of the face by a pitch from Detroit's Paul Foytack in Sunday's exhibition finale at Knoxville, Tenn.

He did not suit up for Tuesday's season opener against Cleveland.

The jaw was wired almost closed Tuesday morning and the 1962 American League all star third baseman won't be able to eat anything but liquids in the next four weeks.

Marchers, Drillmaster's Cry Absent From Cuban Scene

Despite Militiamen Everywhere, Island Is in New Military Phase

BY DAVE ROBERTS

Chicago Daily News Service

The sound of marching feet and the Hup, Hup Hup, Hup of the infantry drillmaster, all-pervading across the Cuban countryside a year ago, are missing now.

These sounds awakened me each morning in Havana during my 1962 visit; they even broke the stillness that, ordinarily, prevails above the duck marshes where we hunted in Las Villas province, under the shoulders of the Escambray mountains.

I went back to the same shooting grounds of couple of weeks ago. The militia camp that lies nearby still is there—but the sound of the cadence of the march was missing. The camp has changed drastically during the last 12 months. It looks much the same from the outside. The inside, naturally enough, was not open for inspection. The reason is clear—and interesting.

Starting last August, one of the boys told me, great military trucks began running over the dusty back-country roads, carrying day's season opener against Cleveland.

The jaw was wired almost closed Tuesday morning and the 1962 American League all star third baseman won't be able to eat anything but liquids in the next four weeks.

ing tremendous loads from the waterfront at Cienfuegos, 20 miles away. Mountains of cement were brought in. Much of the material in the trucks was hidden by canvas.

So the old militia camp became a Russian missile base, manned by Russians and Cubans in training. So it was a couple of weeks ago when we drove the same tortuous country roads, past the rocket installation and on down into the valley where, come evening, the whistling geese fly.

Just before darkness fell, we loosed our guns and went to work. Our five guns roared and spouted fire into the night, with geese falling and our dog retrieving, until it was too dark to see the moving flocks.

Seeing Distance

We were within seeing distance of the Russians and certainly within hearing distance. But no one came to tell us nay.

Thus, while Fidel Castro's militiamen still are evident everywhere, Cuba is in a new military phase. Perhaps the training is over, or perhaps the panic has passed. In those earlier times, Fidel was constantly shouting that the invasion was about to begin; he was constantly goading his people into frenzies of patriotic fervor.

I saw a lot of troops this time, and talked with many soldiers, both gals and guys. They seemed a little more stable, more subdued—more confident, perhaps—than they had been on my last two visits. Much better dressed, too. The trip from Havana to Cienfuegos this year was—as it always is—an intriguing one. We took the old central highway that leads through a delightful countryside, turning south at Colon where I guess I have visited a dozen times. The trip takes between five and six hours.

Eyes Wide
On an expedition of this sort a fellow must keep his eyes wide all the time. He can write of what he sees, but he can't ask too many questions. I've made a score of trips through this part of Cuba. So far as the farming goes, I've never seen the land poorer.

Parts of Matanzas and Las Villas provinces are great sugar-producing areas. In April, 1962, I wrote about the burning fields of cane that lighted every trip I took. Fires were not so numerous this year—although sabotage still is rife in all rural sections.

This year Mother Nature is the saboteur. Drought has cut cane production to pitiful proportions; throughout a large part of the island, the canes are dwarfed.

Some of the fields that have been fired have not been worth harvesting. Cuba is in a new military phase. Perhaps the training is over, or perhaps the panic has passed. In those earlier times, Fidel was constantly shouting that the invasion was about to begin; he was constantly goading his people into frenzies of patriotic fervor.

I saw a lot of troops this time, and talked with many soldiers, both gals and guys. They seemed a little more stable, more subdued—more confident, perhaps—

Two agricultural experts told me that the greatest deterrent to farm production is the lack of farm management—plus slow-down and sabotage. Cane fields, I have been told, require careful and meticulous attention, which they have not been getting. This is largely due, it is said, to the lack of technical farm experts in the Castro government.

Asked Friend
One friend of many years, whom I stopped to see along the way, was most discouraged. He is a farm specialist—a scientist—who has spent his life in practical agriculture. He is biased, certainly, but the things he told me make sense.

"The land won't give its best unless it is tended with knowledge and willingness," he told me. "The young boys who have been put in charge of many of our best farm sections don't know the first thing about their business. Maybe they've been raised on farms; maybe they can milk a cow. But nothing more."

"I can take you to some good dairy herds which are producing one-third less than they were producing before government take-over. I can show you sugar cane fields so grown up in grass that the cane roots are being stunted. Drought? Of course, unless it is tended with knowledge and willingness." he told me.

"Poor production also can be traced to the discontent among farm people—who once were Castro's most enthusiastic followers. They find themselves now, after all the fine promises and all their devotion, in a worse place than they were under Batista."

"Oh, I know, some of them have boys in the militia and get government pay checks. But they had hoped to own a little land. They see no chance of that now. They're expressing their dissatisfaction by sabotage and by slow-down their work."

Three Broadway Actors Win Academy Awards

Jingo's Happy Over Acting Choices, Especially Anne Bancroft, Patty Duke

BY JINGO
The Academy has spoken and Hollywood's coveted honors have returned to these shores. In fact, three of the Oscars went to Broadway actors. To Jingo that's synonymous with real acting — taking nothing away from the skill practiced by such as the other Oscar winner.

Two of the honored films are real pieces of Americana. The big film is from a story that was "discovered" by an American newsman and the third starring vehicle is one of the most theatrical pieces of writing to appear on the American stage in many years — despite its sordidness.

After he went away out on the limb a few weeks ago, Jingo needn't point out how pleased he was with the Oscars going to superb Patty Duke and the incomparable Anne Bancroft.

These two are real actors — working, creating, thrilling night in and night out in the prototype of show business — that fabulous world Ethel Merman so thrillingly saluted in the Oscarcast recess.

Miss Bancroft's winning the best actress award must have been sweet indeed in her mouth. Hollywood once blinded her with its tinsel. She turned her back on it and went back to the stage to prove she was more than a solid to be lighted and photographed. She became our stage's brightest light before she was rediscovered by Hollywood.

Bill Would Allow Taverns to Open On Election Day

MADISON — The assembly executive and finance committee Tuesday voted 7 to 1 to recommend passage of a bill that would allow sale of beer and liquor in taverns on election day.

John Rohrer of La Crosse, representing the Tavern League of Wisconsin, pointed out that the prohibition was enacted when taverns had a prominent part in the political scene but these times have passed.

He said state law has never prohibited the sale of beer or liquor for off-premise consumption on election day.

John Korner, representing the Wisconsin Tavern Keepers Association of Milwaukee, and Annice Jaber of Fond du Lac, also favored the measure.

"The present law costs me about $300 every election day," Jaber said.

Firemen Called for Railroad Car Blaze

KAUKAUNA — Firemen were called at 5:30 a.m. Tuesday to extinguish a blaze in a bearing box of a railroad car in the Chicago and North Western Railway north-side yards.

Grease and dirt in the journal ignited, but no damage was reported to the boxcar.

to please adults in his life or the child who fears failure is hesitant in making new moves in his school life.
Hurdles that children often refuse to jump by themselves are first attempts at playing ball, writing or drawing pictures in the classroom where they will be seen by others. The child cannot be expected to have sufficient interest of his own to read material for understanding when the findings must be explained to teachers.
Firm insistence
At all these points children need the firm but kind insistence of a parent or a teacher to help him leap these hurdles.
Take the case of Nancy. She was a quiet child. Teachers found it difficult to interest her in entering class activities. Finally an understanding third grade teacher placed Nancy on a committee to design the Thanksgiving bulletin board.
Each child on the committee was to draw a picture showing how he or she thought the bulletin board should look. Everyone drew a picture except Nancy. Nancy said, "I can't draw a bulletin board. I can't draw a turkey."
The teacher said, "We'll wait until Nancy has drawn her picture."

and then the committee can decide what to do."
All through the day Nancy sat quietly but produced no picture. That evening Nancy's mother called the teacher. She reported Nancy was crying. The teacher agreed to talk with Nancy's mother at the end of the week.
First Step
The next morning, however, Nancy came in, took a sheet of paper and drew a picture of a bulletin board. Of course her turkey was a very good likeness of a turkey but the first step had been made. It was no longer necessary for the mother teacher conference.
Nancy no longer fears ridicule from the teacher or the class and is contributing happily.
Jack faced a different hurdle. Reading and explaining carefully what the paragraph said so disturbed Jack that he would not try. He became ill and asked to go to the school nurse each day at reading time.
After three days of this his first grade teacher quietly talked to Jack and said, "Reading must be what is making you ill. This type of reading is something you must learn to do. Do it and get it over with."
After a few minutes of sitting quietly and thinking Jack made the try. Of course he succeeded.

Sam's Father Was Firm
Sam was failing his seventh grade arithmetic. The teacher reported Sam as careless and somewhat lazy. One evening Sam's father asked to see his homework for the next day. He looked at the assignment and at Sam's work. He realized Sam had not studied the problems carefully before attempting to write his answers. "Return to your room," Sam's father said, "read each problem study it. Bring them back to me correctly done," he said.
Knowing that his father meant business Sam did exactly that. To Sam's surprise he could read all of the problems and he could get all of the answers right. The next day's homework was done correctly. The first time Sam now is a successful arithmetic student thanks to his father's insistence.
A word of caution is in order. First be reasonably sure that the child knows how to do the work required. In the matter of writing or drawing skills do not expect perfection on the first try. However in such things as writing skills be persistent and insist on a sufficient amount of periodic practice.
When you are convinced the child is trying and still not succeeding then it is time to get help from an expert.

Are You Adaptable?

By WILLIAM BERNARD and JULES LEOPOLD

Some authorities lean toward the idea that intelligence is the capacity to learn. Others believe it is the ability to solve problems. Still others define intelligence as adaptability—the capacity for adjusting to the particular circumstances in which a man finds himself.

Actually, there is less contradiction among definitions than might appear at first glance. Thus, learning capacity means essentially the capacity to learn to solve problems. A parrot can learn by rote to recite numbers. But it cannot learn to solve the problem, say, of counting the people in a room—so it is less “intelligent” than you are.

Likewise with adaptability. Adapting to an environment can be interpreted to mean solving the problems presented by that environment. Psychologists have learned that to a large extent it involves the discerning of relationships. The elements in each line below represent a series—that is, a definite relationship can be found to exist among them. How good are you at detecting the relationships?

DIRECTIONS—The figures in every line follow some definite sequence. Fill in the blank space with the figure which should come next. For example: 13, 11, 9, 7, 5 represent a sequence whose next figure would be 3. TIME LIMIT: 10 MINUTES

Syphilis Not Hereditary But Can be Congenital

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

I am being taken to task, quite legitimately, by technically-minded readers who protest that syphilis can be congenital, but cannot (as I incorrectly said) be hereditary.

The way the subject arose was via a letter from a man with the disease who wanted to know if it “could be hereditary” because he knew of no way, other than that, by which he could have contracted it.

What he meant boils down to this: Could he have been born with the disease? And the answer is “yes.” A child can be born with syphilis.

Doubtless I should then have explained that there is a difference between congenital and hereditary.

Heredity governs our basic constitution. We tend to be tall or short because our ancestors were. Color of hair, eyes and skin is a matter of heredity. Some diseases are hereditary. For a couple of examples, heredity strongly influences diabetes; it passes on such defects as hemophilia or failure of the blood to clot properly.

Pregnancy Accident

A congenital defect on the other hand is one that occurs through some accident or influence during pregnancy. Consider the “thalidomide babies.” They started out to be normal, but the drug intervened, and caused a deformity before the babies were born—and AFTER they had acquired their hereditary traits.

Aside from the matter of using the correct word, all this becomes important to us, in a practical sense.

A child is never born with syphilis simply because the parents may, at one time, have had it.

A child can be born with syphilis for only one reason. The germ is present while the baby is still in the womb. Syphilis is a germ caused disease. There is no way of getting it without transmission of the germ.

For years the proportion of babies born with syphilis has been from one to two per cent, but there is no real excuse for this except that people do not take proper measures for adequate treatment.

Early Medical Care

This risk alone is sufficient reason why women should begin getting medical care as soon as they are pregnant rather than waiting until the time of birth is near.

If syphilis is detected, treatment with antibiotics or other drugs can protect the child from the disease even though in some cases the mother may not be entirely cured.

Treatment after birth can protect the child, too, and the number of infant deaths from this cause has declined to a very low figure.

If a woman does not have the disease and is not exposed to the syphilis germ throughout the time of pregnancy, her child will not have it. She may have had it, and been cured. The child still cannot be born with the disease because the germ is not there. I repeat, it is congenital, not hereditary.

Yes, it's possible; however, headache, nausea and drowsiness are the usual symptoms of monoxide from faulty heaters.

times, it could be sensitivity to a wool blanket. Or too many blankets, making you too warm. If it turns out to be purely a skin ailment, he can tackle that, too.

New Principals For Appleton Schools Named

James Murphy Will Succeed Walter Fox Who Is Retiring

James Murphy, principal of Franklin School, will become the principal of James Madison Junior High School next fall, replacing Walter T. Fox, who is retiring after 42 years as a teacher and administrator in Appleton schools.

The Board of Education Monday appointed Murphy to fill the vacancy being created by Fox's retirement. Supt. of Schools Royce E. Kurtz recommended Murphy from among about a dozen persons within and outside of the Appleton school system who applied for the position.

The board also approved Kurtz recommendation to assign one principal to supervise the Jackson and Columbus schools next year, and appointed Mrs. Teresa Novokofski, now principal of Jackson School, to the dual post. The two schools will have an anticipated total enrollment of 482 pupils in 14 or 15 classrooms next year.

The board approved placing elementary school principal interns at Twin Willows and Badger schools next fall to serve as head teachers. The selections will be made later. There are now four teachers in the principal intern program. James Retson, supervising principal of the attached schools this year, has been appointed to the new post of elementary curriculum coordinator, starting in August.

A head teacher also will be appointed at Woodlawn School, but probably will be chosen from among the staff there, Kurtz said.

Portage Native
Murphy was an elementary school teacher in Appleton for four years, starting in 1961, and has been an elementary school principal for the past eight years. He was appointed principal of Washington School in 1955 and held that post for three years. He was principal of McKinley School in the 1958-1959 school year, and has been principal of Franklin School since 1959.

Murphy, 34, is a native of Portage. He received his bachelor's degree from Wisconsin State College, Milwaukee, with a major in upper elementary education and a minor in social economics and physical education. His master's degree from George Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn., covered all areas of administration.

During his undergraduate college years, he was physical education instructor for two and one half years at Maple Dale School, Milwaukee County. He taught summer school at Stevens Point State College three years ago, and has taught the last two summers at Whitewater State College.

He is the former chairman of the interim committee in the Appleton schools, which served after Miss Martha Sorenson left as director of elementary instruction. Murphy is married and has two children. He is a member of the Kiwanis Club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and is a Sunday school teacher.

Walter T. Fox

James Murphy

Industrial Arts
Fox, a native of Sauk City, came to Appleton in 1921, after graduating from Oshkosh State Teachers College, as an industrial arts instructor of the First Ward School (later the old Edison School) when junior high schools were established in 1925. He switched to McKinley School as a full-time instructor in industrial arts.

He was at McKinley School from then until his move to the new James Madison Junior High School in 1958. He became principal of McKinley in 1955, and was the first principal of Madison School.

Fox was active in Boy Scout work at McKinley from 1928 to 1940. He is a Lions Club member and a former president of the Appleton Education Association, and has worked on community chest and YMCA drives. He was a church school superintendent of the First Methodist Church, and served as chairman of the Appleton centennial committee.

Inner Core
Mrs. Novokofski started in the Appleton school system in 1948 as a teacher at Franklin School. She was head teacher at Whisper State College three years ago, and has taught the last two summers at Whitewater State College.

She received her bachelor's degree at Wisconsin State College, Oshkosh, and her master's degree from the National College of Education, Evanston, Ill. Jackson and Columbus schools are both in the inner core of the city and not growing rapidly as are the schools in the other areas. Kurtz told the board the anticipated enrollment for next year is 229 at Columbus School, with seven rooms to be used, and 253 at Jackson School, with seven or eight rooms used. Having a combined principal for the two schools has been considered for several years, he said.

Richard D. Goree, now principal of Columbus School, will have an administrative position next year, Kurtz said, but the post has not yet been decided. Two elementary schools — McKinley and Franklin — still have principal vacancies for next fall. Charles Lynch, principal of McKinley, previously was appointed principal of the new Johnston School, which will open next fall. Goree and Richard Haas, acting principal of Huntley School, were the first of the principal interns to be appointed to administrative positions, which they started in last fall.

Little Nine Music Festival Scheduled at Winneconne

WINNECONNE — More than 1,000 musicians from the Little Nine Conference high schools will compete here on Saturday, April 20, in the annual music festival, according to Supt. Arthur Lehman, tournament manager. Fifteen bands, six mixed choruses and seven girls' glee clubs will compete in four divisions. Band events will begin at 8 a.m. in the Central School gymnasium with the Winneconne High School band playing first. Choral events will begin at 8:40 a.m. in the Presbyterian Church with the Winneconne Junior High treble choir. Highlight of the festival will be the 4 p.m. parade which will form at the village fire station and proceed across town to the central

Fountain Purified By Playful Prankster

HARNISBURG (AP)—Inscribed above the fountain of justice at the Dauphin County Courthouse are the words: "God gave the fountain of justice, men must preserve its purity." Even so, county employees were somewhat alarmed recently when they found mountains of soap suds billowing from the water. Apparently a prankster took the inscription to heart and dumped detergent in the fountain.

Welfare Director Warns Of 'Poacher' Operations

Warrant Issued for Man Who Got Help Illegally

Professional welfare poachers have been active in Appleton and other Wisconsin cities in recent weeks, it was learned Tuesday.

"This is the time of the year when you have encounters with the 'pros' who make a living by bilking welfare agencies and other well-meaning people," warned City Welfare Director Merton Ehrlicke.

Residents and businessmen were advised by Ehrlicke to check with his office when approached by a stranger who has a hard luck story and is seeking some sort of assistance. "All it takes is a telephone call," Ehrlicke said. It was disclosed that the city has obtained a warrant for the arrest of George DelHagen, 53, an out-of-state resident who obtained food and lodging at city expense during the weekend, March 9-10.

Checked Story Ehrlicke said the man, who was accompanied by a woman he identified as his wife, contacted a religious group and explained his "unfortunate circumstances". The group contacted the welfare department which gave the couple meals and two nights lodging.

"We obtained the usual information from the man before agreeing to help him and then checked out his story," Ehrlicke explained. The investigation disclosed, according to Ehrlicke, that the man had a long criminal record and spent about 20 of his years in and out of jails and prisons. "Our information indicates that he is a 'pro' and has been bilking people most of his life," Ehrlicke said. However, by the time the welfare department completed its investigation over a period of 48 hours, the city's "weekend visitor" had hastily departed.

"Let's face it, they were just passing through and never had any intention of keeping the Monday, March 11 appointment I had made with them," Ehrlicke said. Since the incident, other welfare agencies in the state have been alerted.

istance and gas for them to continue on their way, Ehrlicke explained.

However, the man was reluctant to fill out the necessary assistance application papers and went to a local businessman and told his hard luck story. Eventually, the man was given $55 credit and the businessman agreed to underwrite the loss if anything went wrong.

It did. — The man and his family used up their credit and "blew" the city before the welfare department had an opportunity to complete arrangements for getting them relief.

"We do not refuse people help if they have a legitimate reason for it," Ehrlicke emphasized. "However, we always have to be on guard against the professional because he can cause trouble and cost the taxpayers money," Ehrlicke added.

He urged Appleton residents to contact his office immediately when someone knocks at the door and seeks assistance.

"It will be of help to everyone concerned, and innocent people and well-meaning groups will not be victimized," Ehrlicke said.

Delay Action in Oshkosh Robbery Case to Monday

OSHKOSH — Proceedings in the case against five young men for their part in the forcible robbery of an Oshkosh city employee, James Smith, were adjourned Tuesday until 11 a.m. Monday by Judge James Sitter at the request of Dist. Atty. Jack Steinhilber who said he wanted to review the transcript of last Friday afternoon's preliminary hearing before filing charges.

The bonds were reduced from $5,000 to $500 for some of the defendants. They were Richard Richards, 19, and Dennis Klemm, 18, both of 611A Division St., Oshkosh; Larry Mallien, 19, route 1, 18, 1011 N. Chestnut St., Green Bay; and James Mellock, 20, Milwaukee. Mellock's bond was continued at $5,000.

Mellock is charged with forcible robbery and the others with aiding and abetting in the robbery which occurred March 21. An estimated $300 was taken from Smith.

Both U. S., Soviets Humiliated by Fidel

America Embarrassed by 1961 Invasion, Moscow Over Missiles

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—It is almost two years since the United States got mixed up in one of the worst farces in its history. If it had been planned for his benefit, it couldn't have helped Fidel Castro more.

He looked like a soft touch but wasn't. Now, since the Soviets moved in to protect him, he looks untouchable. The United States, which sought to destroy him, now tiptoes around him.

About 1,500 Cuban refugees, with American backing, invaded their homeland April 17, 1961, to get rid of Castro. He smashed them, jailed about 1,300, and finally released them last year for a handsome ransom.

From all of this it might seem he could consider himself safe now. He probably doesn't.

There is a bit of the Caribbean switchblade about him. All who touch him get hit with a curse, friend or foe. Both the United States and Russia suffered humiliation from getting tangled with him.

Yuck Strange Turns

The events flowing from that disastrous act of invasion took strange turns.

This country — but principally President Kennedy, who took responsibility for the invasion — has been rendered self-conscious not only by the invasion failure but the dismal nature of it.

It shocked some people around the world to see the United States take part, even though in the background, in an attack on a neighbor. Some were shocked because it failed, others because it was handled so wretchedly.

Russia suffered an embarrassment from which it probably has not yet recovered when, after sliding missiles into Cuba, it crawled out of a showdown with Kennedy by pulling its missiles out.

But Russia wasn't all loser. It showed about 22,000 Soviet troops into Cuba with the missiles and perhaps 14,000 are still there. Since any attack on Cuba now would involve them, and Russia their presence discourages invasion.

In this sense they're a blessing for Castro. He may feel the blessing is mixed. He can't help feeling that if he ever stops toeing the Russian line, the Russians in Cuba will dispose of him.

There is the possibility that Russia has two reasons, not connected with any real threat to the United States, for putting the missiles in Cuba.

Good Excuse

1. It was a good excuse to put troops in too far while they're a discouragement to any kind of American invasion they are also a control on Castro.

2. Strictly for bargaining to agree to pull its missiles out of Cuba if this country agreed to do the same with its missiles in Turkey and Italy.

The Kennedy administration denies any such deal, or any deal, was made.

Nevertheless, not long after the Russian missiles were hauled away from Cuba, this government announced it was pulling its missiles out of Italy and Turkey.

The reason given was that they are no longer needed now that Polaris submarines moving around under the Mediterranean with their missiles are better bases than the stationary ones in Italy and Turkey.

Out of all this one thing is sure: the United States is a lot further from getting Castro out of Cuba than it was before the invasion began. There is no evidence this country now has any plans for getting rid of Castro.

And the American government, which backed the refugees two years ago has become so cautious about getting into trouble with the Russians in Cuba that it has cracked down on refugees in this country to make sure they don't try any anti-Castro capers from American territory.

Bill May Help Out-of-State Employers

New Bill Would Ease Responsibility Of Deducting Taxes

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The state tax administration has announced that it is willing to surrender one of the points in the state income tax withholding law that has brought angry protests from many non-resident employers of persons who earn a part of their incomes in Wisconsin.

The department is the sponsor of a bill in the legislature that would relieve out-of-state employers of the responsibility for deducting Wisconsin state income taxes from their employees who are incidentally employed within this state such as workers on airlines, railroads, truck lines and others.

There have been protests about such a "nuisance" requirement and one large trucking firm has begun a lawsuit in Dane County challenging the validity of such a state requirement upon it.

Accounting Costs

The complaints have centered on the accounting costs of such deductions against the typically small tax liability involved for such itinerant workers.

John Gronowski, tax commissioner, said the legislation would not relieve the employee in such instances of his liability to pay taxes, but would absolve his employer from the task of collecting them from him.

The bill has two main provisions:

1. Excusing employers from such collections from wage and salary payments when the probable aggregate wages of the employed would be less than $2,000 during the year involved.
2. Relieve the employer of such withholding responsibility when by agreement with the tax department it is judged that the cost of such a procedure is excessive in relation to the tax amount involved.

Two Unions Strike Firm At Oshkosh

Carpenters Local, Teamsters Walk Out At Badger Concrete

OSHKOSH — About 80 members of Oshkosh Teamster Local 126 and Oshkosh Building and Construction Labor Local 947 struck Badger Concrete Co. at 7 a.m. today. Picket lines were set up at the firm's two plants on Bowen Street and Marion Road.

The strike vote was taken Tuesday night after negotiations, which started more than a month ago, between company and union committees had broken down. Federal mediator Edward Larson, and Wisconsin Employment Relations Board mediator Donald Lee, had been assisting in negotiations.

A company spokesman said the unions' latest demand was a 10 percent raise for members of a Carpenters Local employed at Badger Concrete. The union also demanded that the firm work on the new plant at Bowen Street.

The contract between the company and the two unions expired March 31, but work had continued until today under terms of the old agreement.

According to the company spokesman, the unions were asking for a 35-cent an-hour wage increase over a three-year period plus additional fringe benefits. He said the unions rejected the offer on March 28 of 15 cents an hour over a three-year period and additional fringe benefits equal to 5 cents an hour. Last night, he said, the unions turned down an offer of 24 cents an hour over the three-year period and fringe benefits of about 6 cents an hour.

No further meetings between the company and the two unions are scheduled at the present time, the company spokesman said.

Appleton Gets 'Bargain' on Sewer Work

Oshkosh Firm Makes Offer $69,000 Less Than Estimated Cost

The City of Appleton got a bargain Tuesday in the form of a $69,000 bid for storm sewer construction in the West College Avenue North, Mason Street area. Bids were opened during a meeting of the board of public works at city hall. The low quotation was submitted by Central Contracting Co. of Oshkosh.

Actually, there was a wide range in the bidding—so much in fact that it prompted Mayor Clarence Mitchell to ask at one point if the bidders all looked at the same plans.

The other two bids were those of Tenor Brothers of Green Bay, $169,278, and LeRoy Geiger Construction Co., Appleton, $223,714. Public Works Director Robert W. Bues said the $69,000 bid of Oshkosh was about $69,000 below the estimated cost of the project. He explained the specifications require a five-foot top of excavated material be tamped over the sewer.

Soil Elasticity "We feel this elasticity should be followed because Appleton has a peculiar soil elasticity," Bues told the board. In the past, the soil tamping method was not a part of the sewer construction specifications.

In other action, the board recommended the hiring of Lester Schulz, 508 W. Glendale Ave., as assistant building inspector for the summer months.

Set April 15 as the official starting date for construction of the new East Ramp parking structure in the downtown area. All contracts have been awarded for the project.

Decided to sell the old No. 1 fire station at Washington and Oneida Streets to the highest bidder, but postponed advertising for bids for a few weeks.

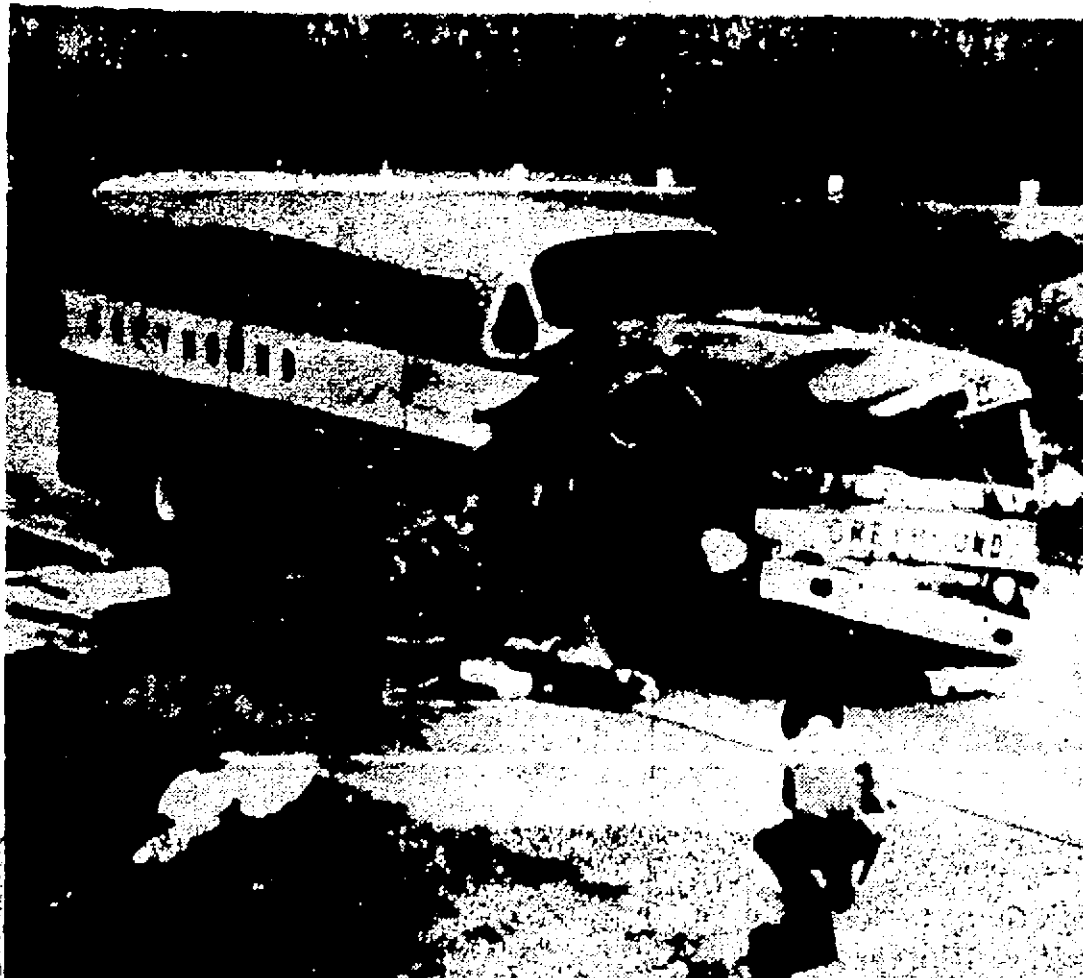

Requested the department of public works to obtain a new fire station at Drew and Atlantic Streets. It will take the architect about three months to prepare plans for the building, which is expected to be completed in the spring of 1964.

Indicated the proposed Lake Michigan pipeline project of the Appleton Water Commission would be discussed at a meeting of the whole of the common council the night of April 17.

Gave the Project 76 Committee of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce permission to erect one "Project 76" sign at the construction site of the new parking structure.

Conditions of Crash Victims Are Improving

NEENAH — The conditions of Mrs. Louise Meyer and LaVern Heath, Decatur, Ind., who were injured seriously in a two-car accident on U.S. 41 Monday, were reported as serious and improving satisfactorily, according to Theda Clark Memorial Hospital authorities.

This bus smashed into the rear of a trailer truck on the Ohio Turnpike east of Sandusky, Ohio, early Tuesday. One passenger was killed and six others were seriously injured. The other 37 passengers were released from the hospital after treatment. James J. Mackesy Jr., 26, of Appleton, a senior at the University of Wisconsin, was a passenger on the bus and helped 30 passengers climb out a window on the upper deck of the double-decker bus. The bus driver, who planned to retire today, was charged with unsafe operation of a vehicle. (AP Wirephoto)

One Killed, 37 Hurt

Appleton Man Helps Rescue 30 Bus Passengers After Turnpike Crash

An Appleton man heroically helped rescue 30 bus passengers following the collision of a Greyhound bus and a semi-trailer truck on the Ohio Turnpike early Tuesday. One passenger was killed and six seriously injured.

James J. Mackesy Jr., 26, a senior at the University of Wisconsin, and son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Mackesy, 70 W. Bell Ave., climbed out his window on the upper deck of the double-decker bus. He helped remove the injured from the front of the bus, and then climbed back in and assisted 30 passengers out of the same window.

Mackesy was en route to visit his sister, Mrs. Janet Heintzelman, North Madison, Ohio, for Easter vacation. He was one of 37 passengers who received minor injuries. He was treated for a laceration on his left hand and a contusion on his forehead, and released from the hospital after a complete check-up and X-rays.

Runs Into Truck The bus crashed into the back of the truck at 5 a.m. Tuesday, six miles east of the Sandusky interchange. The bus driver, Charles Taylor, 62, New Buffalo, Ohio, was charged with unsafe operation. Taylor had a 35-year safe driving record with Greyhound and had planned to retire today. This was his first crash.

"When the bus crashed, people began to scream," Mackesy said. "I jumped up and shouted twice, 'Don't panic,' and then 'keep calm.'" He was sitting in the third seat from the back of the bus on the upper deck. His seat partner was thrown to the floor. When a woman behind him tried to climb over his seatmate, Mackesy pushed her back in her seat and shouted to the rest of the people, "Everybody up here will be all right."

Mackesy climbed out the window at his seat and ran to help the drivers of the bus and truck and other passengers to remove the injured persons from the front of the bus. The front right portion of the bus, where Mrs. Gloria Loser, Lancaster, Pa., was sitting, was sheared off. She was hurled from the bus and killed. Identification was made through a check of luggage.

Form Teams Mackesy and a Negro entertainer from Chicago, a rock and roll guitarist who was scheduled to appear last night in a Cleveland concert, formed a team to rescue 30 passengers from the bus. Mackesy climbed back in and helped the passengers out his own window to the shoulders of the entertainer outside the bus. At least seven of the passengers were small children.

It was discovered later that the Negro had internal injuries and several crushed ribs. He now is hospitalized in critical condition. In the confusion, Mackesy did not get his name.

It took seven ambulances to carry the injured to the Eisenhower Memorial Hospital in Norwalk, Mackesy said. John L. Mills, 73, Whitewater, one of the passengers, was listed in critical condition at the hospital.

Mackesy said the bus driver was calm and kept the bus from overturning. Taylor received minor injuries, and the truck driver was not hurt.

After being released from the hospital, Mackesy traveled by substitute bus into Cleveland and then to Painesville, Ohio, where he was met by his sister.

The seats still available are in the Lake Michigan room, which will be equipped with closed-circuit television. Seats in the Crystal Room have been sold out for more than a week.

In addition to the talk on "What Has Made America Great" by Dr. Annis, the annual president's report will be presented by John D. Reeve. Reeve will fly to Appleton from New York to deliver his talk and then will return to New York, where he will be attending a business management conference.

"Hot" Today Mgr. Adam Grill will present a heavy thunder in the room near the windows and he thought a body might be inside.

Firemen with masks entered the room and searched the rooms for possible victims, but found the house empty. Neighbors said the house has not been lived in for several weeks. A relative was at the home Monday night to pick up mail, neighbors said.

"Hot" Today Chief Kuehl said today the fire may have started when a wire in the set became "hot." If someone had been at the home, Kuehl said, he would have smelled the set smoldering and pulled the plug from the wall.

The TV set was destroyed. Kuehl said the interior of the set fell through the cabinet and spread flames along the floor and burned a hole into the basement.

The building owner told firemen he had insurance. Furnishings were not insured. Firemen estimated it would take about $5,000 to repair the damage.

One fireman, Gene Day, injured his hand attempting to open windows into the home. He was taken by police to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he was treated and released. He returned to the fire after treatment.

Form Teams Mackesy and a Negro entertainer from Chicago, a rock and roll guitarist who was scheduled to appear last night in a Cleveland concert, formed a team to rescue 30 passengers from the bus. Mackesy climbed back in and helped the passengers out his own window to the shoulders of the entertainer outside the bus. At least seven of the passengers were small children.

It was discovered later that the Negro had internal injuries and several crushed ribs. He now is hospitalized in critical condition. In the confusion, Mackesy did not get his name.

It took seven ambulances to carry the injured to the Eisenhower Memorial Hospital in Norwalk, Mackesy said. John L. Mills, 73, Whitewater, one of the passengers, was listed in critical condition at the hospital.

Mackesy said the bus driver was calm and kept the bus from overturning. Taylor received minor injuries, and the truck driver was not hurt.

After being released from the hospital, Mackesy traveled by substitute bus into Cleveland and then to Painesville, Ohio, where he was met by his sister.

The seats still available are in the Lake Michigan room, which will be equipped with closed-circuit television. Seats in the Crystal Room have been sold out for more than a week.

In addition to the talk on "What Has Made America Great" by Dr. Annis, the annual president's report will be presented by John D. Reeve. Reeve will fly to Appleton from New York to deliver his talk and then will return to New York, where he will be attending a business management conference.

"Hot" Today Mgr. Adam Grill will present a heavy thunder in the room near the windows and he thought a body might be inside.

Firemen with masks entered the room and searched the rooms for possible victims, but found the house empty. Neighbors said the house has not been lived in for several weeks. A relative was at the home Monday night to pick up mail, neighbors said.

"Hot" Today Chief Kuehl said today the fire may have started when a wire in the set became "hot." If someone had been at the home, Kuehl said, he would have smelled the set smoldering and pulled the plug from the wall.

The TV set was destroyed. Kuehl said the interior of the set fell through the cabinet and spread flames along the floor and burned a hole into the basement.

The building owner told firemen he had insurance. Furnishings were not insured. Firemen estimated it would take about $5,000 to repair the damage.

One fireman, Gene Day, injured his hand attempting to open windows into the home. He was taken by police to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he was treated and released. He returned to the fire after treatment.

of the bus. The front right portion of the bus, where Mrs. Gloria Loser, Lancaster, Pa., was sitting, was sheared off. She was hurled from the bus and killed. Identification was made through a check of luggage.

Appleton Board To Preserve Site For Expressway

Works Group Agrees to Place Route on Official City Map

The Appleton Board of public works agreed Tuesday to preserve stage, and target dates set for the right-of-way for the proposed construction. They indicated the east-west expressway along the city's southern fringe, but it took no action on land purchase.

The board had before it a communication from Land Associates, Inc. offering to sell the city some 30 lots in the Colony Oaks Subdivision for $105,780.

The land in the subdivision represents the area where the expressway will pass between Appleton and Kimberly.

Board members said any land acquisition at this time would be premature but were unanimous that the first step to preserve the right-of-way was to have it put on the official city map.

A hearing for this purpose will be held at city hall next week. Appleton is the first community in the Winnebago-Outagamie-Cadott county region to put the machinery in motion to protect the expressway route.

Other Communities Mayor Clarence Mitchell told the board it was his impression most of the other communities along the expressway route in the three counties intend to include the x-way route on their respective maps. It was indicated the Town of Menasha appears to be talking at the proposal.

"If we buy this land, which will eventually happen," City Clerk Elden Broehm said, "I think Kimberly and Little Chute should pay their proportionate share of the cost."

Mitchell said he felt the entire expressway route should be laid out and confirmed before the city starts negotiating for the land.

It was explained that by putting the route on official city, town and village maps — the municipalities are in effect declaring a purchase moratorium on the long strip required for the expressway.

Moratorium Time Public Works Director Robert W. Bues said the question has been raised in the past on how long such moratoriums can exist.

Board members said the possibility of having Winnebago, Outagamie and Calumet counties buy the right-of-way for the expressway route should be considered. City officials said to their knowledge there has been no timetable set as to when the proposed ex-

Explores Idea of Recreation, Marine Development at Lutz Park

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A major waterfront development to provide the City of Appleton with modern, aesthetic recreation and marine facilities is being considered by the Appleton Park Board.

No price tag has been put on such a project. The board held an exploratory meeting Tuesday afternoon with a Chicago consultant who said that properly developed, Appleton could have a beautiful waterfront.

The board has indicated interest in an over-all development which would take in the Lutz Park area and that portion of the Fox River shoreline occupied by the Appleton Yacht Club under a 25-year lease arrangement with the city.

A recent request by Yacht Club representatives to have the city lease additional land at $1 a year to the group to relocate its clubhouse and construct a marina prompted the park board to take a hard look at the entire Lutz Park area. It is Appleton's only park with a natural waterfront.

City Interested The board voted to place the offer to sell from Land Associates, Inc. on file.

Meeting with the park board was J. L. Donoghue, president of Ralph H. Burke, Inc., engineers and architects of Chicago. Mayor Clarence Mitchell also attended the session and gave indication the city was interested in a major waterfront development.

"If we get into something like this, we want it done right," Mitchell said. Prior to the meeting, the group inspected the waterfront, including the Yacht Club installation, Lutz Park and recent lands acquired by the city for future park expansion.

Donoghue estimated it would cost the city about $3,500 to have a master plan prepared for development of the riverfront, marina and park area.

Usually Acceptable There appeared to be doubt in the minds of some board members that the Yacht Club should be permitted to operate in the future with a liquor license. Donoghue said such operations were acceptable in most communities that have combined marina-park developments.

"You will always have a yacht club no matter where it might be located," Donoghue told the board.

Before the board makes a decision on whether to authorize the Chicago firm to plan a new development, it intends to meet with representatives of the Yacht Club and study plans of the latter have prepared for the park area.

"There was thought the city and club could cooperate in arriving at the type of improvement needed."

Show Concern Park commissioners, and some city officials have expressed concern over the proposed location and amount of land the Yacht Club would want for its new clubhouse. It was generally agreed the club's buildings are unattractive when entering the park area from Pierce Ave.

The board indicated it was interested in developing a plan for the entire riverfront first before making a decision on the Yacht Club's future.

"From a practical standpoint, it is nice to have a place for boaters and others where they can get a few drinks and have lunch or dinner," Donoghue said.

Arthur W. Jones, board secretary, said he did not think it was a favorable situation to have liquor sold on park premises.

Donoghue said if the park board and common council should decide to proceed with a marina development, it could be accomplished in stages. He said his firm was available to prepare a master plan, obtain economic data pertaining to potential income and

The purpose of the petitions, Lincoln said, is to express sympathy with the Jackson boycott and to "arouse a certain amount of concern here in Appleton about the Negro question, and not make this an angry concert."

In answer to a question, Lincoln said there will be no attempt to exert economic pressure on the Appleton stores. "We will try to exert social and ethical pressure, not economic pressure," he said. "This is not a slam against the Appleton stores."

Boycott Considered Originally a boycott of the Appleton stores was considered, he said, but it was decided the petitions would be more effective here.

There will be one person who went on the Mississippi trip at each of the stores while the petitions are being circulated, Lincoln said. These persons have talked to the people there and can tell firsthand stories about how the Negroes are treated, he noted.

One member of the audience objected that petitions will be misconstrued as coming from the whole student body at Lawrence. Lincoln and Barton explained that the project was the work of interested individuals and not of any organization.

Some Effect A Negro student from the South said she didn't think this petition will change southern attitudes. "The main effect this petition can have," she said, "is to change the service policies of these stores and the rest will follow. I have seen this happen in my own home town after economic pressure was used. So this petition can have some effect."

Another member of the audience pointed out the need to create informed opinion here in Appleton. "We have our own community at interest here," he said. "We are anxious that a climate receptive to the Negro be created. I suggest that we not be afraid of

Group in Sympathy With Negro Boycott to Circulate Petitions

Lawrence Students Back Move; J. C. Penney, Woolworth Company Sites for Activities

Sixty-five persons signed up Tuesday evening to circulate petitions in front of two Appleton stores, starting Friday, in sympathy with a Negro boycott of 127 stores in Jackson, Miss., protesting discriminatory practices.

The petitions will be circulated on Friday afternoon and evening from 5 to 9 p.m. on Fridays and from 12:30 to 5:30 p.m. on Saturdays.

Spring Trip Jerry Lincoln, Scarsdale, N. Y., and William Barton, Mamaroneck, N. Y., both sponsors of the Lawrence, explained the project. They became interested as a result of a trip of 21 Lawrence stuents during vacation to Bledzie, Miss., where they worked at the Back Bay Mission, and Tongaloo Southern Christian College near Jackson, where they met the leaders of the Jackson boycott.

The purpose of the petitions, Lincoln said, is to express sympathy with the Jackson boycott and to "arouse a certain amount of concern here in Appleton about the Negro question, and not make this an angry concert."

Fire Strikes Empty House in Appleton

Policeman Sees Smoke; Firemen Attribute Cause to Wire in TV

Fire which may have started in an unused television set damaged an unoccupied house at 716 S. Jackson St. early today. The fire was discovered by an Appleton policeman who saw smoke coming from the roof.

The home has been unoccupied since Monday night. Fire Chief Roland Kuehl said. The occupant, Mrs. Dorothy Procknow, was hospitalized last month and her daughter, Debra Jean, 12, has been staying with relatives.

Inspectors said today the fire was centered around a television set in the living room. Firemen believe the set started on fire from wiring. Flames spread up the wall, through the second floor and into the attic. The flames were confined to the one wall area but smoke and water damage was extensive throughout the house.

Sees Smoke An Appleton patrolman, Clarence Denny, saw the smoke about 2:10 a.m. He looked to the front door and found it locked. He said he kicked open the door but smoke and heat prevented him from entering the home.

Denny then went to the window and broke out the storm window and the inside window. The patrolman said he still could not enter the home because of smoke. Three fire companies arrived soon after he broke the windows.

Gordon Hummel, nominating committee chairman, reported Lester Winits, Eugene Vande Hey and Leo Hendricks would be candidates for commander of the coming year. Election will be held at the May meeting. It was voted not to permit absentee voting for the election.

Baseball Team Members voted to sponsor a team in the Junior American Legion Baseball League this summer and authorized William Winits, baseball adviser, to attend a meeting of state directors at Appleton April 21. Tentative plans were announced for a spring work party at Camp American Legion with James Peeters as chairman.

Winners of the fishing contest, sponsored by the Legion, during March were Willard Van Handel, largest perch, and Connie Hinkens, largest northern pike.

Neenah Clubs Hear France Criticized

British Consul Levels Blast At DeGaulle's Veto Actions

BY GERALD W. ODOM
TCNR Staff Writer

NEENAH — An official of the British government Tuesday, at a meeting of the joint service clubs of Neenah, subtly but strongly criticized the French veto of Britain's entry into the Common Market, charging that Pres. Charles DeGaulle has done what the Soviet Union has been attempting for the past 15 years — split the western alliance.

Dennis Reginald Roper, MVO, British consul at Minneapolis - St. Paul, Minn., told members of the Neenah Kiwanis, Lions, Optimist and Rotary Clubs that he assured them Great Britain was "not at all amused" by De Gaulle's actions.

Moving Begun At Neenah High Shop Addition

NEENAH — The new east wing of Neenah High School is a beehive of activity. It began on Monday when crews of Fluor Brothers Construction Co., Oshkosh, and of the Neenah Joint School District board of education started moving 65 pieces of equipment from the printing, woodworking and metal shops into the new shops which were completed last Friday.

Most of the new equipment for the industrial arts shops has been installed. In the new print shop a new Heidelberg cylinder press holds the center of the stage and gathered around it are the four old presses, makeup benches, new sinks and vacuum frames.

Metal Shops

New to the metal shop are two lathes, a grinder, two gas welding units and two are welding units. Voel Equipment Co., Milwaukee, has had workmen setting up 16 four-station metal benches for the metal and wood shops. Installation of a new furnace is nearly completed.

The woodworking shop has a new drill press, grinder, mortiser, circular saw and jointer

Roper reviewed the 18 months of negotiations between Great Britain and the Common Market members which ended in defeat of British intentions and a shattering of U.S. plans to enact new trade acts.

Others Friendly

Roper referred to Common Market countries other than France as "the friendly five" and charged that DeGaulle's actions were politically motivated rather than economically because DeGaulle was afraid France would lose its leadership in the Common Market once the veto is lost in 1970, when terms of the Rome treaty are culminated.

Under the Rome Treaty, partnership members each have a veto until 1970 when elimination of barriers between the countries, such as internal tariffs, is scheduled.

Roper termed DeGaulle's actions as "absurd."

The reason the talks failed were not because they looked as if they might fail but because they might succeed, some say. Roper explained.

He added that sooner or later an agreement would have been reached.

Roper said DeGaulle saw the presence of Great Britain in the Common Market as a stooge for the United States.

He said the French action not only was to divide Europe but DeGaulle appears to have decided to keep U.S. investors out of France and persuade other Common Market countries to restrict development in their areas.

Kaukauna High Will Restrict Auto Use

Students Will Need Permits to Drive To and From School, Starting in Fall

KAUKAUNA — The board of education Tuesday night adopted a new policy restricting the use of autos by students as a means of transportation to or from school, beginning in the 1963-64 school year.

A student must present proof to the principal of his need for the auto and written approval of his parents for him to drive and for all passengers he will carry, under the new policy.

All approved drivers will be given a student driving permit containing the driver's name, vehicle owner's name, operator and vehicle license number, reason for issuance of the permit, proof of insurance and names of passengers.

Riders' Approval

Riders must bring a written request from parents to the principal, stating the need to accompany a particular driver. Misuse of the permit can lead to revocation.

The board set the policy to curb unnecessary use of autos by students. The board said it is asking cooperation of parents.

Board members approved the hiring of Jerome Kroll as assistant high school principal and an additional guidance director. Kroll, instructor at Kimberly High School, has a masters degree in guidance work and extensive study in administration. He is a former Kaukauna resident and graduate of Kaukauna High School.

Other teachers added to the staff were Stephen Schultz, instrumental music teacher, Neenah High School graduate and holder of a masters degree from Northwestern; Kenneth Smith, speech correctionist, Appleton High School and University of Wisconsin Milwaukee Extension graduate. All three of these posts are new additions.

Another Teacher

A fourth teacher hired was Merlin Young who will teach fifth grade at Park School. Mrs. Malcolm Jacobson was named head cook to handle the new hot lunch program to be inaugurated in

High Court to Rule On Jury Trial for Mississippi Governor

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court has been asked to decide if Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi is entitled to trial by jury in the criminal contempt proceedings stemming from his efforts to block the enrollment of a Negro at the University of Mississippi.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals deadlocked 4-4 over the issue Tuesday and asked the Supreme Court to decide if the 64-year-old governor could be tried by jury as he had asked.

"It is much less important, in the judicial scheme of things, that Gov. Barnett should escape being fined or jailed for his publicly demonstrated contempt of a valid order of this court than that he should be denied the jury trial which he has demanded," wrote Circuit Judge Warren L. Jones of Jacksonville, Fla.

Firemen to Attend Rites of Neenah Chief

NEENAH — The entire Neenah fire department with the exception of one ambulance driver will attend the 2 p.m. funeral of Fire Chief John Zick, as a crew of 12 Appleton firemen moves into the two Neenah stations to man the equipment and standby, according to Acting Fire Chief Ferd Diesterhaupt.

He said the Neenah fireman, along with visiting firemen and chiefs, will form up at the downtown fire station at 1 p.m. and march together down Doty Avenue to the Westgor Funeral Home.

Expected are men from Menasha, Oshkosh, Appleton, Berlin, Fond du Lac and Green Bay and other area cities, with chiefs from these and other areas also being in attendance.

The Appleton crew, which volunteered to man the two Neenah stations during the funeral, will take over the entire operation of the stations about noon or shortly after.

Because the Appleton men do not know the city streets well, two Neenah policemen will be stationed at the stations, one at each, to direct the crews if a fire call should come in, according to Chief Diesterhaupt.

The only Neenah fireman on duty will be the ambulance driver, the chief said.

Chief of Police Lester Clark, Menasha, said he, along with various officers and men, will be attending the funeral in respect to the Neenah chief.

Neenah Police Chief Lawrence Malouf said all Neenah policemen except those on regular duty and special traffic details, will be attending the services.

Off-duty men of the Menasha fire department also will attend the rites, according to Fire Chief Edward Heim.

Process Improvements Grant Patents to Four Employees of K-C Corp.

NEENAH — Four employees of Kimberly-Clark Corp. have been granted patents relating to paper machine improvements. Two patent development instrumentation laboratory, invented a system for automatic correlation of the paper machine's wire speed with pulp stock velocity. This invention was developed by Eastwood while an employee of the corporation's associate, the Spruce Falls Power and Paper Co.

Variation in wire speed is immediately sensed by Eastwood's system, causing a similar change in the velocity of the stock flow. The result is a reduction in the number of paper web "breaks" normally encountered during operation, and improves overall strength and uniformity of the paper.

Ralph E. Grobe, 844 E. Eldorado St., Appleton, manufacturing specialist in the consumer products division of Kimberly-Clark, and C. B. Allen, 660 Hansen St., Neenah, a chemical engineer at Badger - Globe division of Neenah Mill, received a patent relating to an improved doctor blade assembly for creped wadding machines. The improvement eliminated the common problem of excessive surface wear at the edges of doctor drums. The problem is solved by cutting back supporting structure behind the doctor blade, allowing it to flex more freely at the edges.

W. A. Dickens, 317 12th St., Neenah, superintendent of the chemical engineering laboratories at Research and Development, invented an improved air circulating system for drum drier hoods.

Dickens' invention provides a particular arrangement of nozzles within the hood to direct air against the entire surface of the drier for more uniform and efficient drying of the paper.

Summer Printing 'Out' in School Shops, Board Says

The Appleton Board of Education has decided not to have the school printing done in the senior high school print shop during the summer.

Armin Gerhardt, printing instructor, suggested that with the addition of an offset unit to the print shop, the board could save money by using the equipment and supplies in the shop during the summer.

He estimated the board could save an average of 20 per cent of its printing cost the first year and an additional 5 to 10 per cent after the negatives and plates are made and stored for future use. About $30,000 worth of equipment and supplies that would be idle during the summer would be used, he said, in a letter submitted to the board.

Supt. of Schools Royce E. Kurtz made no recommendation on the proposal. He said there is a question how much would be saved.

Board member John Schneider said he did not favor the schools "going into competition with local printers."

Zaborski Blasts Olson for 'Stall' Accusation

Dem's Leader Says Party Not Crimping State Crime Probe

MADISON (AP)—The Senate's Democratic floorleader hit out at Lt. Gov. Jack Olson Tuesday for a speech in which the Republican officeholder accused Democrats of stalling a state investigation of organized crime.

Olson made the speech last week in Manawa. He said Democrats feared an investigation would disclose the source of some of the party's funds.

Sen. Richard Zaborski, D-Milwaukee, called Olson's remark a gutter lie.

Crime Group
Zaborski noted that ranking Republicans proposed six weeks ago that the Senate create a crime investigation committee, and that no action has been taken on the proposal.

"I will sponsor a bill if you don't have the guts to introduce one," the Milwaukee Democrat told the GOP majority.

Sen. Jerris Leonard, R-Milwaukee, replied that he had a bill to create a three-man investigating committee and he challenged Zaborski to include himself as a co-author of it. The challenge was not accepted.

Political Influence
"There is no question but that there is political influence involved in organized crime in Wisconsin," Leonard continued, "but it is at the hardest level to get at—the local level."

The debate stopped action on a number of bills before the Senate.

New legislation introduced included a measure that would force motorists to put their automobiles through a state safety test before registering them. The bill is authored by Sen. Allen Busby, R-Milwaukee.

The spring cleanup is an annual affair held by the city for several years, according to officials.

Police Seek Vandals For Damage at Dock Of Menasha Paper Firm

MENASHA — Police are seeking vandals who left a wake of destruction at the Wisconsin Tissue Mills loading dock when they ripped into cartons of paper and scattered the contents and redressed packages to various destinations.

The vandalism took place in a box car by the loading docks. Police said the vandals took rubber stamps and restamped several boxes to go to Whitney Paper Company in Kansas. The boxes were originally stamped for Florida shipment.

Eight packages of mimeograph paper were scattered and one case of napkins was torn open and part of its contents scattered.

Volunteer Firemen Extinguish Shed Blaze

KIMBERLY — Volunteer firemen were called to extinguish a blaze in an abandoned storage shed on property near Geenen Floral, 422 N. Sidney St., about 3:30 p.m. Monday.

Damage was limited to the shed and dry grass in the area. Fire is believed to have been caused by youngsters playing in the area.

David Leach Describes Business, Plant; Menasha Man President

OSHKOSH — A wall of water built into the new Leach Co. plant here, David Leach told members of the Fox Valley Chapter of the Society for The Advancement of Management at its dinner meeting at Robbins Restaurant here Tuesday night. The chapter toured the state codes.

Leach said the state building code requires a fire wall to be in the area where heavy steel is stored because the plant is built on a filled-in area. After about 10 years, when there has been sufficient settling, a concrete floor then may be installed.

Sales Organization

Leach also discussed management of the firm's sales organization and some of the unusual aspects about being in the garbage business. The firm makes refuse collection bodies as one of its products.

Elected as officers at Tuesday night's meeting were Lyle C. Fehrman, Edgewater Paper Co., Menasha, president; Gordon R. Hanson, Manitowoc Equipment Works, Manitowoc, vice president; Stephen H. Landolt, Thomson and McKinnon Co., Oshkosh, secretary, and Elmer Sheller, Mara and Motivate Them to Buy, St. Norbert College Chapter will meet with the Fox Valley Chapter at that meeting.

Appleton Council Unit Questions Burning Law

Safety Committee Will Ask Opinion Of Attorney on Ordinance's Legality

The Appleton council's public safety committee has requested an opinion from the city attorney on the legality of the city's trash burning ordinance.

Meeting at city hall Tuesday night, the committee discussed a resolution introduced in the council several months ago by Ald. M. S. Dorothy Stillings (7th), which called for a review of the present ordinance.

Fire Chief Roland Kuehn has repeatedly complained that the ordinance has deficiencies and wants a clarification so that his inspectors can enforce trash and rubbish burning regulations.

Some aldermen report they are receiving complaints from residents who claim the terms of the ordinance are being violated in some neighborhoods.

Complaints Received
The public safety committee decided to ask City Atty. Frederick Froehlich whether he feels the ordinance is correct as written. Aldermen noted that the council's welfare and ordinance committee also has Mrs. Stillings' resolution on its agenda.

"The reason our committee is involved in this matter is because the fire department receives these complaints," commented Ald. after the May 9 meeting at the Green Bay Elks Club, at which Dr. Sidney Levy of Social Research, Inc., Chicago, will speak on "How to Attract Customers and Motivate Them to Buy." The council had set in January, but was delayed several times.

Found Innocent of Game Violations
Harold Beresford, 65, route 1, New London, Town of Liberty clerk, was found innocent Tuesday of placing untagged animal traps on his farm Jan. 6. A 12-man jury heard the case in Outagamie County Court, Branch 2 and deliberated 23 minutes before reaching a verdict.

Beresford was charged Jan. 11 with two game violations. He was fined $50 on a trapping violation and pleaded innocent of the second charge of using untagged traps. Trial had been set in January, but was delayed several times.

Park Board Eyes Waterfront Project

operational expense, present alternate development plans that could include the Yacht Club, and provide cost figures for the overall project.

The U.S. Corps of Engineers also will have to be contacted to see how far out into the channel a marina can be extended.

Donoghue said if the city hired his firm, it would take about three to four months to complete the report.

It was indicated that dredging of the channel may be required to make the boat approach safer. Park Supt. Harold Jerke said there has been a problem for boaters when they strike a submerged island in the channel area.

New Slips

The Yacht Club recently constructed four new steel slips on the riverfront at its own expense. The slips are rented out, however, with the proceeds going to the club. The State Public Service Commission and U.S. Corps of Engineers have yet to give permission for putting in the new slips.

Yacht Club officials say they have put "several thousand dollars" into the riverfront operation over the years. They cited an expense of some $5,000 a few years ago to have a portion of the channel dredged.

Club officials feel a marina facility is needed in Appleton because of increased interest in boating. Several Fox River Valley communities have harbors, marinas and yacht clubs—and are also blessed with considerable more waterfront than Appleton.

The lease between the city and Yacht Club was signed in December, 1950, and says that two years' notice in writing is needed for either party to terminate the contract. Should the city want to terminate the contract before its expiration, it would have to reimburse the Yacht Club for the amount it has spent on permanent improvements.

Stocks Head for Big Advance

Dow Jones Average Up 1.17 at Noon, Now Reads 707.20

NEW YORK (AP)—Heavy buying of stocks propelled the stock market toward a healthy advance early this afternoon.

The trading pace was extremely active and not too far below Monday which turned out to be the busiest day of the year.

Interest in steels was generated by the price increase posted last night by Wheeling Steel, the nation's 11th largest producer. Industry leaders had little to say about the move. Brokers considered it held inflationary implications.

At noon The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was ahead 8 at 265.5 with industrials up 1.1, rails ahead .5 and utilities up .2.

Around noontime the top half-dozen steel companies were higher by more than 1, including Wheeling.

Motors trailed off but tobaccos, oils and rails were generally higher. Most of the gains among key issues outside the steels were fractional.

Another possible factor generating buying was a survey of orders received by manufacturers which found the March pattern strong and clear. The survey said this indicated a strong upsurge in the national economy was growing.

Other steel stocks ahead 1 or more included U.S. Steel, Republic, Jones & Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Crucible. Bethlehem was ahead a major fraction.

Ford was the biggest loser among the motors, falling back about 1/2. The company declared a regular dividend and also without board to await sentencing this morning.

Philip Morris again paced the tobaccos, picking up about a point. The company's first quarter sales and earnings ran ahead of 1952.

The noon Dow Jones industrial average was ahead 1.17 at 707.20. Prices on the American Stock Exchange advanced in moderately active trading.

One Caught Fire, Other Rolled

OSHKOSH — Oshkosh police were led on two wild chases on opposite ends of the city at almost the same time this morning, resulting in arrest of the two drivers for reckless driving and of four other youths for disorderly conduct.

Dennis Kostmerchek, 19, 835 Cherry St., and James Betts, 19, 3192 North Shore Drive, passengers in the car driven by Robert Stevens, 22, 820 Cherry St., pleaded guilty of disorderly conduct and were ordered held without bond to await sentencing Tuesday.

A warrant has been issued charging Stevens with reckless driving. He is now in Mercy Hospital for treatment of injuries sustained when his auto rolled over and was crushed.

Theodore Maltson, 18, 1021 Schon. Ave., also pleaded guilty of disorderly conduct and will be sentenced Thursday. He and Kenneth Mader, 18, 1065 Washington Ave., were passengers in a car driven by a 17-year-old youth which crashed and rolled over. Mader also was arraigned on a disorderly conduct charge but his case was continued until Thursday and he did not enter a plea.

Spot Car

Oshkosh Police patrolling the south side spotted Stevens' car on Doty street at 18th Avenue being operated without headlights at 1 a.m. When police gave chase, Stevens turned on the car lights. His auto went through two stop lights and was clocked at speeds up to 80 miles an hour on Oregon Street, according to police.

Police reported Stevens' car caught fire and after he slowed down, his car struck the squad car as it passed him. All three in his car ran, but Stevens slipped and fell near the car and was caught. The other two ignored a warning shot fired in the air and escaped into a field, but gave up a short time later. Kostmerchek lost his shoes in the chase.

Winnebago and Fond du Lac County police were called in to assist and the Van Dyke Fire Department was called for the car fire.

Both Handcuffed

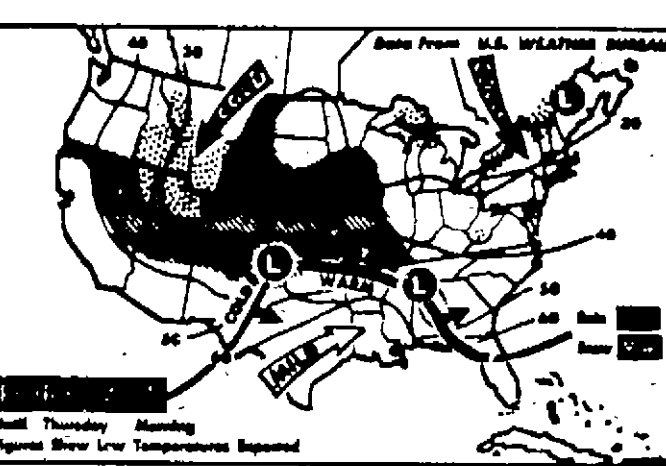

Kostmerchek and Betts were handcuffed to be transported from the police station to the jail, police reported, and Sheriff Richard Lowell told the court this morning the two created a disturbance in jail the entire night.

Mattson and Mader were arrested with the 17-year-old after he tried to run from police in a car without the headlights on at 1:19 a.m. on the city's northeast side. Police spotted the car at New York Avenue and Broad Street and followed the vehicle to Menominee Drive at speeds up to 55 miles an hour.

The car failed to negotiate a curve in the 2000 block and rolled over several times.

Frost Disappearing

Fox Valley Weather Nears Spring Normal

Although it may seem unpleasant after temperatures up to the 80s earlier in the month, weather in the Fox Valley has settled down to seasonable spring normals.

The U. S. Weather Bureau, Austin Straubel Field, Green Bay, this morning said no temperature change is seen Thursday. The bureau predicted temperatures would reach 45 today, drop to 25 overnight and climb back to 45 Thursday.

Readings for the next five days will average near normal, according to the Milwaukee weather bureau. Normal highs range between 46 and 56 and normal lows between 27 and 33.

The Milwaukee bureau said rain is expected late Friday or Saturday.

In Appleton, the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co., cooperative observer for the U. S. Weather Bureau, recorded a high Tuesday of 45, an overnight low of 23, and a reading of 37 at 9 a. m. today.

Petitions Will Be Circulated On Negro Plight

Each parent costs the state $77 a week at Winnebago State Hospital and over $74 a week at Mendota. County hospital care is far below this. Dr. Archer said, but if the counties give up their patients because reimbursement is not sufficient, this will mean more state hospitals and increased costs.

Kimberly Golf School To Start Tuesday

KIMBERLY — The Kimberly Recreation Association will open its golf school at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Clubhouse.

Lessons will be two hours and held for three consecutive Tuesdays. Information on the school can be had by contacting Raymond Schwank. Participation is open to KRA members and their wives.

Encourage Letters

The flyer encourages people to write letters to the national and Jackson offices of the stores, to congressmen and other government officials and to local newspapers supporting the Jackson boycott. The petitions and letter-writing campaigns "are designed to bring social, moral and ethical pressure against these chains so that they will remove the racial discrimination which exists in their southern branches," the flyer states.

Two other Appleton stores—Thom McAn Shoes and Walgreen—belong to chains whose stores are being boycotted in Jackson. Original plans called for petitions to be circulated in front of these stores too, but because of the number of people needed, it was decided to circulate them only before the two other stores.

Manager Reaction

Maurice B. Wood, manager of the J. C. Penney Co. store in Appleton, said today, "My reaction is that the boys have a very worthy cause to work for, but they have nothing to accomplish by circulating petitions in front of our store to bring pressure on me here. Their efforts would be wasted. Our stores are local in management; and any pressure on me here would not affect the Jackson store. I cannot see how the approach they are taking is going to help."

Archer Warns Of High State Hospital Costs

Counties Won't Care For Mental Cases Under Old Formula

OSHKOSH—Unless financial reimbursement to counties for care of mental hospital patients is changed by the state legislature this session, the day of the county hospital will be over.

That was the warning given by Dr. Ralph Archer of the Division of Mental Hygiene of the State Department of Public Welfare, to county hospital superintendents and trustees and county board members from nine counties this morning at a district meeting at the Raulf Hotel.

More Hospitals

This means the state will have to undertake such programs and it will mean additional state hospitals scattered through the state at a cost of $12,000 per bed.

Students in Norway Get Through Quizzes, 3 to 4 Hours of Homework

BY JEFF HOUSE

OSLO — A Norwegian student goes to school six days a week, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. I begin my day as most others do. After a typical Norwegian breakfast of goat cheese, sandwiches and milk, I spend a little time going over my lessons once again to refresh my memory. Then I walk to the home of my friend, Gunnar.

Although Gunnar does not know it, I am of the opinion that the lives of two people are safer than that of one when it is necessary to negotiate the wild Norwegian traffic which is so bad it can make your hair stand on end.

Our first class is history—a sort of summary of the histories of Sweden and Denmark, with the accent on that of Norway.

Our teacher is a quiet, little man who would never think of raising his voice outside of the classroom. When he enters the room, the students stand respectfully until he is seated and gives permission for us to be seated. His manner changes. His face grows fierce and his voice implies that he is not to be fooled with. He shouts instructions. He will say, "Yesterday you were assigned the pages dealing with Sven Tjugeskegg." Then he will study his grade book and suddenly he will look at one of the pupils. "Per Salobrekke," he will shout. "Tell us what you know of Herr Tjugeskegg!"

Teacher's Mood Varies

Per will rise and discuss the subject. He may speak as little as a minute or as long as 10, depending upon what he has learned and also upon the teacher's mood. Per is a good student and his discussion will be interesting and eagerly told. But he may be stopped by the teacher who will again scan his grade book, then roar "Jon Arne Dahl! Continue!"

The hour goes much like this until the full elements of the lesson have been told. Our teacher will then give us the next day's assignment, perhaps an Olaf Haraldsson. He discusses Haraldsson and our assignment and we are dismissed when the bell rings.

There follows immediately a method which I like and which I would be pleased to see in American schools—a ten minute relaxation period after every hour. The students are required to go out of doors during these breaks.

In the United States there is always a rush to the locker for books and a rush to the next class. A result of the hurry is that one thinks about Latin for the first five minutes of the Algebra class.

Geography Course

During our 10 minute break here, we discuss anything at all—sports or chemistry or a test that we are about to be given.

Young Business Man:

YOUR CARRIER

An outstanding carrier both in length of service and in mileage covered daily is Robert Reuss.

Anpleton No. 67 who has had his route since August 1959 and who travels six and one-half miles each day.

Robert serves customers on West Capital Drive and West Edgewood Drive from Mason Street to North Lynndale Drive and on North Lynndale Drive and North Gullett Street from Capital Drive north to Center Swamp.

Robert lives at 3340 N. Lynndale Dr. with his parents and a brother Howard who helps as a substitute and who is looking forward to taking over the route this summer. Robert is a senior at Appleton High School and attends St. James Methodist Church.

His interests include football, basketball, piano and agriculture. He plans to enroll in the University of Wisconsin extension division next fall and is using his earnings for this purpose. His route funds also help pay for clothes and supply him with spending money.

This is a class in which only two pupils recite as a general rule. As one person speaks, the other students must listen and point out errors if any. The remainder of the hour is spent in doing any written work necessary.

Our Easter examinations take a full six long hours, and everyone eats during the test. If someone must leave the room, he does not go alone; he is marshalled there and back by a teacher. Each pupil brings a soft drink and cakes, cookies or candy bars to sustain him during the long examination. For this test, we were told that standard sized bottles of soft drinks were acceptable, but the large-size bottles were not allowed. Why not? Because too many teachers would have to be used too often in conveying pupils to the washroom!

We have only one woman teacher. She is the only instructor in the school who uses the dreaded "black mark." These marks are given to any pupil who does not sit correctly, does not pay attention, drops a pencil or commits any other sin including knitting. (Every girl in every Norwegian class will knit if she cannot be observed by the teacher!) A certain number of black marks can lead to expulsion or failure. I have no ambition to find out how many are required!

All of our teachers give us homework. But, like about 85 percent of my classmates, I usually take an hour's ski trip before I settle down to doing it. After homework, Norwegians read or knit until bedtime. Of course Norwegians have many kinds of sports and recreation. The strangest of them all, I thought, is the way basketball came to use here at Eikeli School. (Tomorrow: Basketball at Eikeli!)

Guidance for Insane

Passed by voice vote was a bill that would allow counties of more than 100,000 population to act as legal guardians for insane persons.

Assemblyman Russell Olson of R. Bassett, introduced a bill that would require applicants for a marriage license to have premarital counseling before they could be issued a license.

Merrill Stalbaum of R. Waterford introduced a bill that would provide elementary school districts with the same level of state aids as union high school districts if they maintain the same standards. The same bill was introduced last session and the State Department of Public Instruction estimated it would cost an added $8.5 million in aids over a two-year period.

Churchill Now Citizen of U. S.

his son Randolph. The grand old statesman was watching Live television using an orbiting satellite as a relay point brought the scene into his London residence with exceptional clarity. A household spokesman said Sir Winston was deeply moved. He retired immediately after the broadcast.

Notables Present

The threat of more rain didn't keep away members of the Supreme Court, Cabinet, Congress and the diplomatic corps or governors, generals, former ambassadors and three sons of Churchill's transatlantic wartime partner, the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Mrs. Kennedy in a navy blue suit, smiled up at a fan-shaped window in the second story of the White House at Caroline Kennedy and Caroline's ailing grandfather, Joseph P. Kennedy. The latter was ambassador to Britain just before World War II, when Churchill's voice was almost alone crying out against the menace of Hitlerism.

The President got things under way in his office. With 11 ceremonial pens, he signed a bill in which Congress directed him to proclaim Sir Winston an honorary citizen.

Marine Band Plays

Outside, a color guard stepped forward with the American flag, the presidential and the NATO flags, and the emblem of Britain carried by a prematurely graying British commando. Kennedy came through the doorway.

The Marine Corps Band struck up "God Save the Queen" and "The Star Spangled Banner."

The President, also in navy blue, signed a special American passport for Churchill. Acting Secretary of State George Ball termed it "a unique document for a unique citizen."

Kennedy signed the proclamation and read it aloud.

It said that Churchill's "bravery, charity and valor both in war and peace have been a flame of inspiration in freedom's darkest hour; that he has expressed himself with unsurpassed power and splendor the aspirations of peoples everywhere for dignity and freedom."

Group's Report Shows 1,000 Persons Died On Highways in 1962

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's Committee for Traffic Safety has presented a report on highway accidents in the nation last year. 41,000 dead, 1.5 million disabling injuries, 3 million serious injuries and estimated economic losses of about $7 billion.

The President in receiving the committee's report Tuesday called it "a senseless record and distressing waste of human resources."

In a special statement Kennedy said "there is no single answer to the national traffic safety problem, but that his committee is working hard on it."

Six Persons Perish in Syrian Flash Floods

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—A government spokesman said Tuesday that six persons, including two women and a child, perished in flash floods in Damascus in the last 24 hours.

Following torrential rains the flood also caused severe property damage and disrupted telephone communications inside Syria for 48 hours.

Education Plans Must be Flexible, Teachers Told

State Instruction Officer Talks at Calumet Meeting

CHILTON — Educational programs must be flexible to meet the varying rates of learning among pupils, Robert Van Raalte, assistant state superintendent in charge of instructional services, told Calumet County school board members, principals and superintendents, at a county conference here Monday night.

Van Raalte, one of two speakers from the State Department of Public Instruction, appearing on the program urged the educators to "break the lockstep in education." The rigid program or educational package for a youngster of a specific age is outmoded, Van Raalte said.

He suggested that it was impractical to think that the same "educational diet should be fed to a student with a comparative 100 mile per hour learning rate as would be fed to one with a 50 m.p.h. learning rate."

"We must challenge the gifted child," he emphasized, and reminded educators they were responsible for developing all available talent to its fullest extent.

'Take Inventory'
Van Raalte asked school officials to take a careful inventory of the pupils attending their schools and to learn their needs. "Needs are an ever-changing pattern. Educational needs of 1963 are as different from those of 1953 as those of 1973 will be from those current," Van Raalte said. Schools should be a real resource for learning, he said, urging well organized libraries and guidance programs. "If we are to demand excellence of our teachers, we must provide the services to support them in the job they are expected to do," he commented.

During a question and answer session he cited several examples of adjusting curriculum to varied learning rates.

The minimum size for a high school "to do the complete job of education" at an economical rate was about 400 to 500 pupils, Van Raalte said, but added that the true measure of the school's effectiveness is determined in the end by the teaching-learning situation it provides.

Appearing with Van Raalte was Ted Sorenson, state supervisor of school transportation. His talk dealt mainly with technical legal aspects of school board functions—legal quorums, voting procedures, publication requirements, board powers, etc.

Sorenson cautioned board members never to act individually regarding board matters. If the action should have repercussions, the board member would lose the mantle of liability protection provided boards by the statutes.

Written Policy
He also urged all the school boards to adopt a legal written board policy. The policy should cover those areas of school responsibilities not covered by the statutes. An adopted policy also enables school board to give recurring issues uniform treatment.

Through education has progressed very swiftly during the past decade, still more will be expected of our schools in the future, Sorenson said. The opinion, he said, was based on the tone of spending school legislation.

Sorenson warned the board

Four Youths Hurt In Overturned Car at Kimberly

Four youths received minor injuries when their car went off County Trunk KK near Kimberly and overturned about 9:45 a.m. Monday.

Injured were the driver, James R. Kreikamp, 18, 822 E. Kimberly Ave., and passengers Joseph Kaufman, 15, 275 Helen St., Robert Eising, 16, 303 Pine St., and James Vandenberg, 16, 607 Third St., all of Kimberly.

Outagamie County police said the youths received bumps and cuts and will be treated by family doctors. The car was heading east on KK when Kreikamp attempted to pass another car and lost control of his own vehicle, police said. The car went into a ditch and overturned.

Parties Deadlocked in Mock Election at Hilbert High

HILBERT — The two established parties, the Nationalists and Federalists, deadlocked for offices for Hilbert High School's Calumet County government day program.

Each party won three offices with the independents gaining surprising strength late in the campaign to gain two posts. Independent treasurer Patricia Dix defeated Nationalist Barbara Reichard and Federalist Beverly Reichard. Another independent emerged victorious in the race for sheriff when Neil Ott bested Nationalist Dale Henke and Federalist Dennis Henke.

Winners for the Nationalists were Michael Weinreis, clerk of court; John Anheier, district attorney; and Judy Zitzelsberger, members they were entrusted with the two most treasured possessions of parents—their children and their money. "Take care of both," he said.

The program was arranged by F. J. Flanagan, county superintendent of schools. He introduced the speakers and served as program chairman. Chilton, Hilbert, Brillion and Stockbridge school districts sent delegations to the conference.

Four Fined For Conduct

Fights, Argument, Teen-Age Rumble Incidents Heard

Four persons pleaded guilty to charges of disorderly conduct in separate incidents. They appeared Monday in Outagamie County Court, Branch 2.

Abraham Cornelius, 51, route 3, West DePere, was fined $25 and costs or 12 days in jail. He was arrested after he stuck a second man with a butcher knife during a fight Sunday.

Martin Huspek, 18, 319 N. Bennett St., was released to his parents on bond of $100 after his case was continued for 60 days. Huspek was arrested Saturday by Appleton police who said the youth held a knife against his stomach and threatened to kill himself. Police had to disarm the youth in his bedroom.

Timothy G. Strutz, 937 E. North St., was fined $25 and costs. He was arrested by police early Sunday morning after he became abusive to police who tried to intervene in an argument between Strutz and his 16-year-old girl friend.

Richard Hendrickson, 19, rural Hortonville, was fined $35 and costs. He was arrested by Outagamie police at the scene of a "rumble" on the Alcan Road March 17. Police said Hendrickson would not obey directions and became arrogant.

Zaborski Blasts Olson for 'Stall' Accusation

Dem's Leader Says Party Not Crimping State Crime Probe

MADISON (AP)—The Senate's Democratic floorleader hit out at Lt. Gov. Jack Olson Tuesday for a speech in which the Republican officeholder accused Democrats of stalling a state investigation of organized crime.

Olson made the speech last week in Manawa. He said Democrats feared an investigation would disclose the source of some of the party's funds.

Sen. Richard Zaborski, D-Milwaukee, called Olson's remark a "gutter lie."

Crime Group
Zaborski noted that ranking Republicans proposed six weeks ago that the Senate create a crime investigation committee, and that no action has been taken on the proposal.

"I will sponsor a bill if you don't have the guts to introduce one," the Milwaukee Democrat told the GOP majority.

Sen. Jerris Leonard, R-Milwaukee, replied that he had a bill to create a three-man investigating committee and he challenged Zaborski to include himself as a co-author of it. The challenge was not accepted.

Political Influence
"There is no question but that there is political influence involved in organized crime in Wisconsin," Leonard continued, "but it is at the hardest level to get at—the local level."

The debate stopped action on a number of bills before the Senate.

Shawano County Authorities Try To Determine Motive for Murders

Farmer Lists 'Family Trouble' as His Reason for Killing Wife, Her Mother

Post-Crescent News Service

SHAWANO — Shawano County authorities still are trying to determine the motive behind the double slaying confessed Monday afternoon by Milton Habeck, 42, Town of Herman farmer who shot to death his wife and her mother.

Habeck signed a statement Monday in the office of Dist. Atty. Michael Eberlein admitting the killings. Shawano Police Chief Harold Pingel said the man gave no reason for the double slaying except "family trouble."

It is expected Habeck will be arraigned sometime today on first-degree murder charges. The father of seven children was arrested early Monday morning as he drove his car along State 29 west of Shawano.

Five of his six children by a previous marriage are living at Habeck's farm. His first wife died in 1957. Habeck married the former Dolores Meyer, 34, last October and a daughter was born to them March 14. Habeck is accused of killing his wife and her mother, Mrs. Matilda Meyer, 63, a widow.

Outline Movements

Pingel and other police authorities outlined Habeck's movements before, during and after the twin murders from his signed statement and oral statements made to them during the course of the investigation. Except for some questioning in the office of the county sheriff and the district attorney, Habeck spent most of Monday accompanying Shawano police and sheriff's officers in their efforts to find the weapon used in the slayings. The barrel of the single-shot 16-gauge shotgun was found in shallow water of the Red River where it flows through Gresham, just below the power dam where Habeck said he remembered throwing it. He said he could not recall exactly where he threw the fore-arm and stock after discarding the barrel and a shell found in the water with it.

Authorities said Habeck told them he and his wife were riding around Shawano about noon on Sunday looking at houses because his wife expressed a desire to stay in town. There is no inside plumbing on the Habeck farm and since having the baby Mrs. Habeck had been living with her mother in Shawano, at a home at 1048 S. Washington St., owned by Mrs. Habeck's grandmother, Emma Francisco, 87, who also lived in the house.

Decline Invitation

Habeck took his wife back to the Shawano home, but declined an invitation to join them for dinner and ate alone in a restaurant. He began drinking in the afternoon and continued to drink in bars at the outskirts of Shawano and in Thornton until they closed at 1 a.m. Monday, authorities said.

He then returned home, gathered up the five children living there and took them to the farm home of his parents about six miles away. He returned to his own home and picked up his 16-gauge shotgun and shells.

He drove to his wife's residence in Shawano and cut the telephone wires with a butcher knife. The knife was found near the bodies. Then, gun in hand, he knocked on the kitchen door and was admitted by his mother-in-law. As they entered through the kitchen and dining room into the living room, he and his mother-in-law "had words," police said, the exact nature not being clear.

Reloaded Gun
He told police he then shot Mrs. Meyer in the head at close range with a charge of fine shot. He reloaded the shotgun with a slug and shot his wife, who had joined them in the living room, in the head.

He then went into Mrs. Francisco's bedroom, police said, sat on her bed and talked. The elderly lady told police he threatened to take his own. Mrs. Francisco and the baby's life, saying something to the effect that "I could shoot you and I could kill."

The special early morning worship is presented by the Youth Fellowship. Several members of the high school group will give personal testimony in the theme "What Easter Means to Me." Mr. and Mrs. Donald Duchow are adult advisers for the group.

An Easter breakfast in the church dining room will follow the service.

Aside from the sunrise service, services and communion have been scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Sunday.

Clintonville Rotary Sets Rural-Urban Day

CLINTONVILLE — The Clintonville Rotarians Monday will observe their annual rural-urban day at their noon luncheon at the Hotel Marston.

The program arrangements are being handled by Emil Kuehl, chairman, John Buehrens, Julius Spearbraker and George Spiegel.

Discuss Activities
Community activities in the districts where the schools will be closed next year were discussed. A meeting at Casey School recently pointed out the desire of the people to retain the school for its community building. Members of the board said the schools will be sold, but communities have the option of buying them.

John Lubbers, a member of the board, discussed his attendance at a language laboratory. He said equipment will give freedom of language students a thorough course, because each student will receive full advantage of the course. It consists of taped recordings and earphones for students.

Hendrickson said a 24-unit system would cost about $6,000. The federal government would pay 63 per cent, leaving a net cost to the school district of about $2,000. The machines, Lubbers said, would give students in five minutes what it takes them one hour to learn.

Hearing April 17 On Proposed Dam In Wolf River

MADISON (AP)—Bills in the Wisconsin Legislature seeking to ban construction of a dam in the Wolf River in Langlade County will be given a public hearing in Madison April 17.

Sen. Clifford Krueger, R-Morhold Maundy Thursday services, will say today he and Assemblyman Paul Alfonsi, R-Minnesota, co-chairmen of the Senate and Assembly conservation committees, arranged the hearing date.

Krueger added that plans for securing a room large enough to accommodate an expected large crowd were being made.

The Langlade County Board has received Public Service Commission authority to build the dam to create a lake and offer the sale of frontage. The State Conservation Commission and sportsmen groups oppose the project on grounds it will harm wildlife and destroy recreational values.

Bills in the Assembly and the Senate would block the county's plans by making it illegal to install a dam.

Four New Larger Buses Needed by Waupaca District

Transportation Head Says Rural School Closings Necessitate Move

WAUPACA — The board of education Tuesday night learned it will need four additional large-capacity school buses to transport pupils during the 1963-64 season.

Robert Strebe, in charge of school transportation, said the proposed closing of the rural schools necessitated the acquisition of more buses. He said the fleet includes 13 buses, eight large and five small. Next year 12 large buses and four small buses will be needed.

Strebe, who is working part-time with the school district, said he hoped to leave his position at the end of April. He suggested the board hire a full-time man to have charge of transportation and minor repairs and maintenance on the buses at the new bus garage. Most of the school districts have full-time bus employees, the board noted.

The problem of the nine small passenger buses was discussed. Board members suggested blinker lights, first aid kits and other accessories be added to qualify the buses as school buses. The small buses have regular routes in addition to transporting groups of students to various extra-curricular events.

No Problem Now
Strebe said there was no problem with the drivers this year, but one recently resigned. He said some drivers are content during the winter months, but look for other employment during the warmer weather.

Strebe suggested the possibility of increasing the pay for the bus drivers.

He said the buses average 1-400 miles per day and use 170 gallons of gasoline per day. All the buses next year will have double runs.

A committee consisting of board members Dr. Stanley Langdon, Johnny Hansen and Sidney Griener was named to study the transportation program and make recommendations to the board.

The board authorized the school administrators to negotiate contracts with three teachers. One will work part-time in the home economics department.

The board authorized the purchase of an additional 25 lockers for the high school students. George Hendrickson, superintendent, said there also is need for additional desk-chair combinations, bicycle racks, playground equipment and new lighting.

Board Member Resigns at New London

Meiklejohn Leaves; Cites Referendum Defeat in Letter

NEW LONDON — Kenneth Bleck, school board member elected was appointed to the board Tuesday night following the resignation of Gordon Meiklejohn who was defeated in the April 2 election.

Meiklejohn was appointed to the board Jan. 29 to fill the unexpired term of J. Peter Hamel. Bleck's term will expire in July 22 when he normally would have taken his seat as a board member.

In Meiklejohn's resignation letter which was addressed to board vice president, Dean Kunz, he said his reason for resigning was that in view of the results of the referendum election of April 2 it appears obvious that his views in the need for immediate high school building program are no shared by the majority of the voters. Thus, I feel I can most effectively benefit the district by resigning, and thereby allowing the appointment of one who can more closely reflect the views of a majority of the voters.

Following the board acceptance of Meiklejohn's resignation, Bleck was immediately nominated and approved unanimously.

In the April 2 election in which four candidates were seeking two board posts, Bleck polled 2,287 votes while Meiklejohn received 5,170 votes.

The other two candidates were Gordon Reidenbach who received the nod for the second board post with 1,894 votes and Ed ward Macklin who polled 886 votes.

Reidenbach will be seated on the board July 22 replacing Delbert Beno who did not seek re-election.

The referendum which Meiklejohn referred to in his resignation was to bond the school district for $2.7 million for the construction of a new high school. The referendum was defeated by a vote of 1981 to 751. On the same referendum was the issuing of $200,000 in bonds for the construction of a swimming pool to be attached to the school. This was voted down by a 2261 to 369 vote.

myself and I'm going to twist the baby's neck."

But he left without harming the old woman and the baby, got into his automobile and drove to his father's farm. He told his father to bring the children over to his farm in time for the milking, drove aimlessly about the county when he broke down the shotgun and disposed of it and then went to visit a sister-in-law in Marion, to try to arrange for the care of his children.

Meanwhile, Shawano Police Officer Clarence Marquardt stopped at his home just across the street from the murder scene at about 6:15 a.m. A neighbor informed him that someone must be sick in the Francisco-Meyer house because Mrs. Francisco, who doesn't walk well, was tapping on a window.

Discover Bodies
Marquardt investigated and discovered the bodies, lying in the living room near a crib containing the crying baby. He took the baby to neighbors and reported the killings.

Family friends and relatives said they knew of no serious difficulties between Habeck and his wife and believed they got along well and that Habeck's children by his first marriage and his second wife liked each other.

Not Competent
On file at the Shawano County clerk's office is an objection by the Dist. Atty. Fritz Eberlein on the ground that Delores Meyer was not competent to be married.

The objection states that as a result of mental illness, Miss Meyer was "incapable of knowing and understanding the nature of the marriage contract."

Eberlein said that Miss Meyer was receiving a disability pension from Shawano County because she was incapable of supporting herself. He also said that he had been informed by a physician and surgeon that the "woman was mentally ill as defined by Wisconsin law."

The couple filed for a marriage license on Sept. 4. Eberlein ordered them into court to show cause as to why the license should not be refused. On Sept. 24 County

County Police, Sheriff Officials Comb Countryside

County police squads, sheriffs investigators and Undersheriff Norbert Marx combined efforts Sunday to locate a 150-pound safe removed Saturday night from the Outagamie County Producer's Co-op in Black Creek.

The safe was found by Marx about 3:30 p.m. Sunday about 200 feet off the Navarino Road north of County Trunk G. Sheriff Lt. Jack Zuelzke said today from $50 to $100 was missing from the safe but all firm records have been recovered.

Burglars forced a side door at the co-op Saturday night and wheeled the safe from the building into a waiting truck. Zuelzke estimated the break-in occurred after 9 p.m. and before 1 a.m. The break-in was reported to the Outagamie County Sheriff's Department at 8 a.m. Sunday.

County squad cars and investigators began a criss-cross search of county roads looking for the safe. Two cash boxes were found in a ditch near the Navarino Road, which led to the discovery of the safe.

Judge C. B. Dillett dismissed Eberlein's action and ordered the county clerk to issue the license. The couple was married in October, 1962.

Leach Co. Toured by Valley SAM Chapter

David Leach Describes Business, Plant; Menasha Man President

OSHKOSH — A wall of water installed in one area where the firm wanted to use its overhead crane. Since the crane cannot go through a solid wall, a wall of water was designed to drop a curtain of water between the two areas in case of a fire and to serve as the fire wall required by the state codes.

Another unusual feature was to use a water-bound macadam floor in the area where heavy steel is stored because the plant is built on a filled-in area. After about 10 years, when there has been sufficient settling, a concrete floor then may be installed.

Sales Organization
Leach also discussed management of the firm's sales organization and some of the unusual aspects about being in the garbage business. The firm makes refuse collection bodies as one of its products.

Elected as officers at Tuesday night's meeting were Lyle C. Fehrman, Edgewater Paper Co., Menasha, president; Gordon R. Hanson, Manitowoc Equipment Works, Manitowoc, vice president; Stephen H. Landolt, Thomson and McKinnon Co., Oshkosh, secretary, and Elmer Sheller, Mara-St. Norbert College Chapter will meet with the Fox Valley Chapter at that meeting.

Longer, More Credit Now Trend in U. S.

Loans Now Total
More Than $100 Billion

BY SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Businessmen as well as consumers are demanding and getting more credit.

Manufacturers are carrying their customers longer and the percentage of slow-pay accounts is rising. Wholesalers report the same trend. Adding to the extension of credit to business by banks, and the total is estimated at more than $100 billion.

Manufacturers' investment in accounts receivable is put at just under $50 billion. Commercial bank loans were estimated at $42 billion last year by the Federal Reserve Board. Wholesalers' books carry at least $10 billion more. The total has doubled in the last 10 years.

Past Due Accounts
Past due accounts on manufacturers' books are put at 19.7 per cent of the total extensions by the Credit Research Foundation, compared with 17.2 per cent a year ago. Today's percentage is the highest since the foundation began keeping records in 1937.

To encourage prompt payment, many corporations are sweetening their discount offers for prompt payment.

But as many or more corporations are extending, willingly or not, longer terms to customers. In the open competition of recent months businessmen have been able to shop around and demand that suppliers assume the credit burden that is involved in carrying inventories.

Textile Banking Head
Gerrit J. Popma, president of Textile Banking Co., a factoring firm, says, "today many industrial firms don't know whether they're in the manufacturing or sales finance business."

The foundation reports that half of the business executives it has questioned believe that collecting bills from wholesalers and retailers will be harder in 1963 than in 1962.

Some manufacturers now are offering to deduct 5 per cent for payment within 10 days, and 4 per cent if paid in 70 days. But in some industries companies are demanding and getting as long as four to five months to pay. Ten years ago the standard terms were 30 days.

Businessmen are stepping up their credit extensions from other traditional sources. Bank loans have increased in the last decade, along with general business activity. And a boom in factoring in a number of industries is reported.

Factors estimate total volume last year came to $5 billion, up $400 million from 1961, and a 60 per cent jump from the $3 billion of 10 years ago.

Pays Cash
The factor buys his clients' accounts receivable, paying the manufacturer cash when the goods are shipped and assuming full credit responsibility for collecting from the customer—at a fee.

The consumer, or buyer's, market has added to the growth of business credit, according to Walter M. Kelly, president of Commercial Factors Corp. To meet the competition, Kelly says, the manufacturer must find a financing plan that lets him "offer the right product to the right customers in the right quantity at the right price and at the right time."

If the economy starts to move ahead faster, as hoped, both Popma and Kelly see need for a new approach to trade credit, taking some of the burden recently shouldered by manufacturers.

Re-elect Fire Chief Committee Chairman

Fire Chief Roland Kuehn has been re-elected chairman of the city's safety committee.

Also re-elected for another year are: Electrical Inspector Fred Volkman, vice chairman, and Clerk-Comptroller Elden Broehm, secretary.

Claims of city employees since Jan. 1 have amounted to $1,628 to date, according to a report on workmen's compensation insurance given by Lee Schaefer, a representative of Hardware Mutual Insurance Co., the city's insurance carrier.

The committee decided to conduct a study to determine how much control is being exercised in "policing" street excavations by utility firms.

Appleton's Industrial Park

Has the City of Appleton's industrial park been serving its purpose?

We heartily agree with city officials that the time has come to take a strictly objective look at what the community has, or has not been doing, to encourage local industries to expand and new firms to locate here.

The Common Council on the recommendation of the City Plan Commission has done the right thing in requesting the Board of Public Works to reevaluate the over-all industrial development promotion program to determine whether the machinery needed to do the job is functioning properly.

Acting in good faith, the Common Council a few years ago purchased a sizeable amount of land and established an industrial park area. Other cities in the state did the same thing and are still doing it today.

It all points up the fact that this industrial development business has become quite competitive, and also quite expensive.

In Appleton, use of the industrial park has not lived up to expectations and now city officials want to find out why. They also want to see what the outlook is for local firms expanding and relocating in the industrial park in the years to come.

Both the city government and Appleton Chamber of Commerce have special committees to promote industrial development here. It may well be the time has come to make a complete appraisal of what has been done to date and determine just how effective the city's program has been.

The Kennedy Dairy Program

The Kennedy Administration has revealed its plans for dairy farmers and as expected, the program is built around voluntary participation. The administration proposal for tough mandatory controls, submitted to Congress last year, has been shelved because of outspoken Congressional opposition.

The central idea is to offer dairy men government bonus payments if they reduce output in the marketing year beginning April 1 below production in some earlier base period. Agriculture Secretary Freeman would be given authority to decide when to make bonus payments and how much output should be cut.

The program would continue present minimum dairy price supports. The bonus payments might be $1 or $2 per hundred-weight for production reduction.

However, chances for enactment of any program which would limit dairy output are considered remote. Many dairy state Congressmen like things the way they are, with the government supporting dairy prices but with no controls on production.

Wisconsin's Rep. Melvin Laird, one of the leaders among dairy legislators, commented recently that the main block to any constructive dairy program is the fact that farm organizations cannot even agree among themselves over what should be done. He commented:

"Four years ago the possibilities were quite good that Wisconsin farm organizations would unite behind a referendum providing for a self-help dairy stabilization program. Legislation to create this program was introduced by me in the Congress. At the recent hearings before the Senate and House Agriculture Committees, a display of disunity on the part of all major farm organizations was again most evident. Each major organization proceeded on its separate course in outlining a dairy program for the future. It is my hope that during the interim between the first and second sessions of the 88th Congress we will be able to get all farm organizations in Wisconsin together on a bipartisan basis to unite behind a single dairy program to assure a better future for dairying. Without some degree of unity there is no chance for constructive action."

It should be obvious to all persons, dairy farmers and dairy consumers, that the present program is merely temporizing with the problem. While the government provides minimum price supports, dairy production continues to increase and consumption lags, adding to the surplus of dairy products.

It has been pretty well demonstrated that production controls must accompany price supports. The other, and possibly better system for the long run, is to let dairy prices seek their own level based on the laws of supply and demand.

New Views on Drugs

The federal Bureau of Narcotics and the United States laws on narcotics received two well deserved slaps last week.

The New York Academy of Medicine, after a six month study, reaffirmed a 1935 report which insisted that the profit motive be taken out of the drug racket if the narcotics traffic is to be halted. But the Academy went even further this year in criticizing the Narcotics Bureau and requesting that it "gracefully bow out of the practice of medicine. It is ironic and tragic that the Narcotics Bureau has been doubly wrong, first in dictating the practice of medicine, and secondly in insisting on unsound treatment. Its big mistake has been its failure to recognize that addicts differ and to demand that one mode of treatment be applied to all addicts. It has had rigid, one-track stereotyped policies for a situation that demands judgment and flexibility. This is what happens when revenue agents become dictators of medicine."

The federal regulations which indicate that a physician who doesn't accept immediate and complete withdrawal of narcotics from an addict is evading the law has seriously handicapped members of the medical profession, according to the New York group.

In the meantime, the President's Advisory Commission on Narcotics and Drug Abuse has recommended lighter and less rigid penalties for addicts while maintaining and tightening efforts to catch drugs being smuggled into the country and stiffer penalties for importers and wholesalers. Only 5 per cent of the drugs smuggled are seized, according to estimates. The minimum sentences for addicts leave the courts no discretion, according to the report, and "they have made rehabilitation of the convicted narcotics offender virtually impossible since there is no incentive for re-

The commission recommended strict federal controls on the manufacture of all habit-forming depressant, tranquilizing and stimulant drugs and a master plan of study to investigate the various aspects of drug abuse. Of importance, the commission report indicated, was the increasing use of various drugs which have not been considered particularly of the narcotics type and the indications of specific use of these drugs by certain socio-economic groups. The commission also recommended getting advice from the American Medical Association and the National Research Council on what should be "the legitimate medical treatment for a narcotics addict."

Actually medical authorities are not in general agreement over recommended treatment which of course is all the more reason why rigid regulations should not be required by a federal bureau. There has been a discouragingly high percentage of addicts "cured" in federal institutions who go back to the habit. While some doctors agree with the New York Academy that the profit motive and therefore the pushing of narcotics can be removed by permitting doctors to prescribe narcotics for addicts without fear of prosecution, others feel that this might reduce the chances for rehabilitation.

However, it is clear that the federal bureau, with its insistence upon picturing the addict as a fiend lying in wait for the unwary, is not contributing to a solution to the problem of drugs and their abuse. The laws should be lightened according to the Presidential Commission's advice and the problem of the already "hooked" addict should be considered as primarily a medical one in all of its physical and psychological aspects.

Southsider Suggests East-West One-Way Streets be Reversed

Editor, Post-Crescent: One-way streets for the people of the South Side are a frustrating journey. Rather than alleviate a problem, it creates a whole series of disasters. When you arrive at the top of Oneida Street hill, you embark on a long trail of detours to get to your destination in the tented city of the Cumberland.

Appleton voters gave their approval by 461 votes (4,063 to 3,544) to redistrict the city from six to 18 wards. The change meant there would be 18 instead of six supervisors on the county board and 18 instead of 12 aldermen on the common council. One alderman instead of two was to be elected from each ward.

Champions of the Knights of Columbus Bowling League, including Clem Williamson, Walter Fountain, Harold Hobbs, Carl Glasnap and Matt Schaefer.

Mrs. A. Wayne Turner was serving as chairman of the coming Easter Ball, sponsored by the Service Circle of King's Daughters.

Mrs. Ben H. Russell, Mrs. E. I. Bolton and Mrs. C. E. Hocking were delegates from the Women's Auxiliary of All Saints Episcopal Church to the annual diocesan meeting in Fond du Lac.

Edward Hasinger Jr. was re-elected chairman of the Fox River Valley Beekeepers Association. Other officers included George Jacobson, route 2, Kaukauna, vice chairman, and Leonard Otto, Forest Junction, secretary-treasurer.

Franklin C. Jesse and Earl W. Harder were elected to the Appleton school board in the previous day's election. Two new aldermen elected to the common council were L. P. Everts, 11th ward, and Alvin E. Tews, 17th ward.

In Marion, Henry Wissmann won a write-in victory in the city's First ward aldermanic race and Clarence Fischer defeated the incumbent in the Third ward.

Six new supervisors were elected to the Outagamie County Board — Paul Kostka, Little Chute, Philip Komarek, Bear Creek, Ervin Conradt, Town of Rovina, Raymond Bentz, 11th ward, Appleton, J. M. Van Handel, Town of Vandebrook, and F. E. Gruetzmacher, Town of Dale.

Six Appleton High School students were named for the annual Bolton — Roth extempore speaking contest. They were John Harriman, Kermit Seehawer, Sandra Lemke, Roger Stehr, Ted Hartman and Robert Krueger. The winner's name was to be engraved on the Hall of Fame plaque at the school.

Mrs. Blaque Meek was elected president of the Appleton Civic League, a year-old organization that coming summer. Mrs. Meek succeeded Mrs. C. A. Frey in office. Other new officers included Mrs. W. Paul Jones and Mrs. James Cowan, vice presidents; Mrs. Henry Kreiner, secretary, and Mrs. Howard Miller, treasurer.

tion. A prize example would be trying to deposit money in any one of the banks.

All of the east and west one-way streets now lead you directly back into the already congested traffic of the avenue. If the flow of traffic on Washington and Lawrence Streets would be reversed, the Lawrence Street traffic could flow all the way to Mason Street. Washington Street could flow east all the way to Catherine, and then to the new bridge without getting into the congested part of the avenue. Walnut and Washington Streets would flow directly to the parking ramp from the avenue. For all the use the ramp is getting now, a few car tables could be set up, and the senior citizens could play cards.

Another suitable use for the lower part of the ramp would be to remove the parking meters, erect two walls and a few doors, and you would have the problem of a No. 1 fire station solved. It would be located in the center of the business district.

With the congestion taken off the end of Lawrence Street, Oneida Street would again become a two way street, and the people of the South Side would be able to go back and forth without it being a long and involved route.

Children Under 13 Not Welcome at Paine Center

Editor, Post-Crescent:

After reading for the past two Sundays about the exhibit of old masters at the Paine Art Center, my husband and I decided it was a must for the whole family to see. The children were shown the color reproductions in your paper and we explained, as best we could, first what they were about to see. After a twenty mile trip we arrived at the Paine Art Center to be greeted by a sign "Children under 13 not admitted." Surely they meant to add "When not accompanied by parents" or perhaps the rule was suspended just for this exhibit for hadn't the Post-Crescent said that busloads of school children were to see the exhibit. But upon entering we were told the signs meant exactly what they said.

The point of the letter is, why was it not made plain in any of the write-ups in the Post-Crescent that children are not permitted to see this exhibit, nor any other at Paine's?

State Officials Getting Short Shrift From Some Legislative Committees

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON, Wis. — Among the more unpleasant crudities of legislative life lately has been the recurring grumbling of legislators and civil servants on hearings before the committees.

Wyngaard

The other day a division chief of the State Department of Taxation turned up to discuss, in what he imagined was an objective manner, the mechanics of a bill that proposed to install a county system of property tax assessment. The bill won't pass. It is reasonably controversial. But it represents a thoughtful view of the inadequacies of the present machinery of assessment in many small communities and one day, almost surely, it will become law.

The committee chairman demanded by what right the official had presented himself to discuss the matter at the legislative hearing. As it turned out, he had an invitation from one of the committee members. That satisfied the committee chairman, or so it appeared, although there was no attempt to explain why a man who is invited by a senator has any more right to appear at a publicly announced hearing on a major bill than any other.

THE RIGHT

There was also the instance a week ago involving a staff aide of Gov. Reynolds.

A committee chairman told him, in effect, that he had no business making his speech there as an agent of the governor. Here was a case where the committee chairman, an otherwise decent and reasonable man, permitted his partisan instincts to overcome his democratic judgment. It is quite apparent that the Reynolds administration is using the legislative committee forum as a publicity vehicle. It is shown, for example, in the fact that the press releases on what the governor tells his men to say are always carefully prepared and issued before the event, so that they are likely to overtake the actual news event. As in so many aspects of the sophisticated politics of today, the speech is made to validate the press release.

This is obviously an annoying thing to opposing politicians who are on the receiving end of the incident. But the test of the public man who understands the system of which he is a part is a tolerant understanding of the practical political method that his side will exploit also when it has the opportunity and a recollection of the basic principal that is involved.

THE PRINCIPLE

The principle is that these are public proceedings, by definition. They would be worthless unless available to everyone. A public official, and especially a partisan official or his agent, may very well have selfish axes to grind. But he does not shed his rights as an individual, for all of that.

Is there anything about which a committee hearing a relevant bill ought to be more completely informed than the mechanics of the burdensome property tax system?

And is there anyone who could be expected to deliver more useful advice than a professional in the State Department of Taxation?

To hear a committee chairman in a surly voice tell an official that he is unwelcome without an explicit invitation — which he is not likely to get from most legislators — is especially galling to those who watch the elaborate courtesies extended to the most blatant of the commercial mouthpieces.

The man who collects a handsome fee for saying what he is told to say by a private client gets a respectful hearing. The man who carefully explains that he is a public employee, representing the public interest as best he knows, is virtually told he should tend to his knitting. The manners of some legislative functionaries need improvement.

IS TV Really Giving What Viewer Wants?

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

The constant theme of the hucksters in the field of entertainment — which, today means mostly television — is that they are "giving the people what they want."

Those of us who deplore the hucksters in the field of entertainment — which, today means mostly television — are sneered at as eggheads who are out of touch with reality. The hucksters insist that not only are they giving the public what it wants, but that the public loves it.

Both these propositions are demonstrably false. As a glaring example of their falsity, I cite a recent syndicated television column out of Hollywood with the headline: "40 Night-time Shows Destined for TV Ax."

The story said: "At least 40 of network TV's current crop of weekly nighttime shows will be dropped by summer. About half of this number were series which made their debuts last fall."

If the hucksters know what the people want, and are giving it to them, how does it happen that the majority of TV programs lead so brief a life and undergo so suddenly tragic a death? Why is programming in such a constant state of chaos and confusion? Why is the search so desperate for "new" material — which usually turns out to be as ghastly and unimaginative as the old material? I submit — on the overwhelming evidence itself — that not only do the producers and networks not know what the public wants, but the public itself does not know until it gets it. It is a false assumption to hold that the demand creates the supply; in the arts and entertainment, it is the supply that creates a demand. There was, for instance, no "effective demand" for off-Broadway theater; but the supply continued until the habits of theatergoers were changed, and today off-Broadway theater is the most vital and fruitful aspect in American drama.

There is never a demand for anything that is good until it comes along and takes hold of people. This it cannot do unless it is given a chance, unless time and care and money and energy and patience are expended upon it. Advertisers well know this — there is no demand for a new product, generally speaking, until repetition and exposure over a wide area and for a considerable time generate such a demand.

It is nothing less than a downright lie to suggest that the TV producers are giving the people what they want — and the frantic activity in changing program formats every few months exposes this lie. And it is equally mendacious to suggest — as one recent book does — that the viewers on the whole are "satisfied" with their TV fare. If they were, television would not be the programmatic lunatic asylum it has become.

Commission Aids Union Soldiers

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for April 23, 1963.

(The following is an excerpt from a letter signed H.A.M., a member of the U.S. Sanitary Commission.)

Nashville, April 9, 1863 — Editor of the Motor — A word from an eyewitness of matters and things around here may not be uninteresting to your patrons.

I find that this war is a "big thing." You at home have no conception of its magnitude. The truth is, a big job has been done — a mighty engineering for war has been wrought in the past two years.

But I wish to speak of the sick and wounded soldiers. In this city there must be nearly 4,000; at Murfreesboro about 2,500; at Louisville 3,000; in all between 9,000 and 10,000.

who yearns to do something. "What can I do?" is the question asked. Let me just say a word to such a one.

Did you know that the U.S. Sanitary Commission was organized for just such a purpose to give you a medium through which to reach the suffering ones in the army?

Have you any delicacies a sick man craves, or such as will provoke his appetite? Have you a bushel of potatoes or a peck of onions? Have you butter, eggs, pickles, dried fruits that you would like to see in the hands of the sick?

Just pack them up in a secure way and label them Sanitary Commission, Chicago, Ill., and they will be sure to reach the sick somewhere.

I have made the acquaintance of those in charge of Sanitary stores in Chicago, Louisville, Nashville and Murfreesboro, and in every instance I find them to be reliable and earnest workers to the good of the soldier. I have carefully looked into their methods of distribution and find it eminently wise and especially guarded against misappropriation of gifts entrusted.

There are instances in which the soldier says, by the nurses, stewards and other officers. These are the hard-hearted, unfeeling men who have charge of the sick in some hospitals. This is unavoidable where so many are employed. But should this fact cut off all our contributions in aid of the sick? I certainly can see no other way to compare with this method.

There is not a little suffering here from want of fresh vegetables and the suffering will increase for two months to come unless supplies are forwarded.

I find the army full of hope. The 10th and 21st Wisconsin were never in better spirits than now. The boys look hearty and strong. Their tents are being filled up very neatly and are being kept tidy. I have never been in any city where everything was kept with more neatan adequate solution to the problem of war. "Our earnest wish," the pope continued, "that the United Nations in its structure and in its aims may become ever more the magnitude and nobility of the tasks, and that the day when every human being finds therein an effective way for the rights which belong to his dignity as a human being and which are therefore inviolable and inalienable. It is all the more to be desired since all human beings are an ever more active part of the public life of their own communities, are showing increasing interest in the affairs of all peoples, and are becoming more consciously aware of their living members of the community."

The 100-word encyclical, or circular letter, was the first of its kind issued since the pope devoted exclusively to the analysis of peace in the past, for negotiation to solve world issues.

"Not only can it happen but it actually does happen that the advantages and conveniences which nations strive to acquire for themselves become objects of contention; nevertheless, the resulting disagreements must be settled, not by force, nor by deceit or trickery, but rather in the only manner which is worthy of the dignity of man, that is, by a mutual assessment of the reasons on both sides of the dispute, by a mature and objective investigation of the situation, and by an equitable reconciliation of differences of opinion."

Refugee Problem
Pope John also touched on these topics: "The Treatment of Minorities—It must be made clear that justice is seriously violated by whatever is done to limit the strength and numerical increase of these lesser peoples. The injustice is even more serious if such sinful projects are aimed at the very extinction of these groups."

Political Refugees
It is the duty of states to accept such refugees and to help to integrate them as new members."

Relations between Catholics and Non-Catholics in Social and Economic Affairs—Catholics have a "vast field in which they can meet and come to an understanding both with Christians separated from this Apostolic See (Protestants) and also with human beings who are not enlightened by faith in Jesus Christ."

Pope John also referred to the possibility of Catholics working with persons who reject Catholic doctrine. He did not mention the Communists or Italy, now in a general election campaign hinged to the issue of Christian Democratic cooperation with the Socialists who once backed communism. But his meaning seemed clear.

He said there were historical movements of an economic, social, cultural or political nature that originated from "false philosophical teachings regarding the nature, origin and destiny of the universe and of man." However, he added that even if the teachings remain the same, the movements themselves might be "subject to changes, even of a profound nature."

"It can happen, then, that a drawing nearer together or a meeting for the attainment of some practical end, which was formerly deemed inopportune or unproductive, might now or in the future be considered opportune and useful."

that Lao victory would mean a quick Red victory—rather than a long war on the Viet Nam pattern—unless the United States and its SEATO allies intervene with large numbers of their own troops. The civil war which ended last year demonstrated that the right-wing army of Gen. Phoumi Nosavan was no match for the Pathet Lao.

Resistance by Kong Le's badly outnumbered neutralist troops probably would be short.

Meeting in Paris, the eight SEATO allies made plans for a massive show of force in neighboring Thailand and the South China Sea in an effort to discourage Communist military adventures.

The SEATO plans call for allied troops to re-enter Thailand, which shares a 1,000-mile border with Laos, for ground maneuvers. They were there last year for similar "stop, look and listen" warnings to the Reds.

Wright, 50, has a background as a statistician and a lawyer. With Ford he has been in purchasing, manufacturing and in charge of sales divisions.

Production of M14 Rifles May Be Halted

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Pentagon decision is expected within the next month on whether to halt production of the M14 rifle.

The Marine Corps and most Army units have been equipped with the rifle which has cost more than $130 million to develop and produce since 1957. Some Army units in the Pacific and Alaska do not have the weapon, which utilizes the standard cartridge for NATO ground forces.

Secretary of the Army Cyrus K. Vance told the House Armed Services committee earlier this year that "it may well be that we will in and Britain have the prime responsibility for keeping the peace.

Robert Bolin, director of loans and undergraduate scholarships, said, "Neither on the loan application form nor in a personal interview did he indicate he was employed full time."

Driver Finds Himself In Weird Predicament

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y. (AP)—You might say that truck driver Salvatore M. Augliera was in a predicament Tuesday.

His 14-foot, 9-inch trailer was too tall for the New England Thruway toll gates and he was turned back. But a bridge underpass he had cleared on the approach had only a 13-foot clearance over the return lanes.

So Augliera, who wound up with a summons, had to wait for police to jockey traffic for him to use the lanes he could clear. And then he had to find another route to Stratford, Conn., with the load of scenery for the American Snakese Festival opening of "Comedy of Errors."

Guardianship for Insane

Passed by voice vote was a bill that would allow counties of more than 100,000 population to act as legal guardians for insane persons.

Assemblyman Russell Olson, R-Bassett, introduced a bill that would require applicants for a marriage license to have premarital counseling before they could be issued a license.

Merrill Staibbaum, R-Waterford, introduced a bill that would provide elementary school districts with the same level of state aids as union high school districts if they maintain the same standards. The same bill was introduced last session and the State Department of Public Instruction estimated it would cost an added $8.5 million in aids over a two-year period.

Churchill Now Citizen of U. S.

his son, Randolph. The grand old statesman was watching. Live television using an orbiting satellite as a relay point brought the scene into his London residence with exceptional clarity. A household spokesman said, "Sir Winston was deeply moved. He retired immediately after the broadcast."

Notables Present

The threat of more rain didn't keep away members of the Supreme Court, Cabinet, Congress and the diplomatic corps, or governors, generals, former ambassadors and three sons of Churchill's transatlantic wartime partner, the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Mrs. Kennedy, in a navy blue suit, smiled up at a fan-shaped window in the second story of the White House at Caroline Kennedy, 5, and Caroline's ailing grandfather, Joseph P. Kennedy. The latter was ambassador to Britain just before World War II, when Churchill's voice was almost alone in crying out against the menace of Hitlerism.

The President got things under way in his office. With 11 ceremonial pens, he signed a bill in which Congress directed him to proclaim Sir Winston an honorary citizen.

Marine Band Plays

Outside, a color guard stepped forward with the American, the presidential and the NATO flags—and the emblem of Britain carried by a prematurely graying British commando. Kennedy came through the doorway.

The Marine Corps Band struck up "God Save the Queen" and "The Star Spangled Banner."

The President, also in navy blue, signed a special American passport for Churchill. Acting Secretary of State George Ball termed it "a unique document for a unique citizen."

Kennedy signed the proclamation and read it aloud.

It said that Churchill's "bravery, charity and valor, both in war and peace, have been a flame of inspiration in freedom's darkest hour; that he has 'expressed himself with unsurpassed power and splendor the aspirations of peoples everywhere for dignity and freedom.'"

Group's Report Shows 41,000 Persons Died On Highways in 1962

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's Committee for Traffic Safety has presented a report on highway accidents in the nation last year: 41,000 dead, 1.5 million disabling injuries, 3 million less serious injuries and estimated economic losses of about $7 billion.

The President, in receiving the committee's report Tuesday, called it "a senseless record and a distressing waste of human resources."

In a special statement Kennedy said "there is no single answer to the national traffic safety problem" but that his committee is working hard on it.

Six Persons Perish in Syrian Flash Floods

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—A government spokesman said Tuesday that six persons, including two women and a child, perished in flash floods in Damascus in the past 24 hours.

Following torrential rains, the flood also caused severe property damage and disrupted telephone communications inside Syria for eight hours.

New Powers for Eastern Churches

Patriarchs to Vote on Same Level as Cardinals, Rome Says

By GEORGE WELLES
Daily News Service

JERUSALEM—Holy Week has brought the joyful word to the Christian churches of the East that Pope John XXIII will grant them electoral powers equal to Cardinals.

and possibly all six patriarchs of oriental rites in their robes will participate in the election of the next Pope, according to a Papal promise already made confidentially to them.

The patriarchs will vote on the same level as Cardinals but will not be in the College of Cardinals, being descended by direct election from the founding fathers of the church. Saint Peter himself, regarded as the oldest, profounder and more ecclesiastical than those Cardinals. Cardinals to them are merely advisers to the Pope.

Administrators as signified by the fact that an unordained layman can become a Cardinal while Patriarchs are elected from among the clergy.

Daring Step
In this daring step, Pope John hopes to incorporate into the church his reconciliation with the oriental churches of the East. It is an important advance because of Rome's winning back the Russian and Balkan Orthodox churches. By giving Catholics in these churches the same status as the Pope, John will be making what sort of status the Patriarchs of Moscow and Constantinople can expect if they agree on the road opened by the Vatican Council.

The Patriarchs due to be included are the Armenians, Coptic, Greek Catholic, Syrian (sometimes called Maronite) and the Maronites. It is a sixth prelate, Italian, who is Patriarch of Jerusalem. This patriarchate was started and interrupted during the crusades then restored in the 19th century to counteract the Orthodox drive for holy land in Jerusalem. It has always regarded as an interloper in the patriarchal aristocracy.

Opposition Expected
It is assumed that the Pope's move will be opposed by the Patriarchs of the Russian Orthodox church, which is related to the Russian Orthodox church. The move confirmed the expected move of Maximos, the head of the Greek Catholic church, to fight against Latin as the only language at the Vatican Council and insisted that Patriarchs get status equal to that of Cardinals in the church.

Maximos told the Christian Daily News that, though the move has not yet been announced, it is highly probable. It is also mentioned by a Catholic newspaper broadcasting on Lebanese national radio.
